ACHS ballot battle heats up at debate

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Tempers flared and passionate speeches were given. However, there was very little exchange of ideas at the Alliance for Better Governments debate between Antioch Community High School representatives and members of Better Education Sensible Taxes (BEST). The audience, comprised mostly of educators and angry parents, unleashed some of their frustrations with failed referendums on BEST representatives Alan Knutsen and Robert Warrender.

The issue, of course, was the upcoming education fund referendum. This is the fourth attempt by the school to convince taxpayers to increase funding to the schools.

"We are doing an awful lot with less money than any other area school," said Joanne Osmond, representing the school. "We need the referendum passed so we can provide an equal opportunity to all of our students."

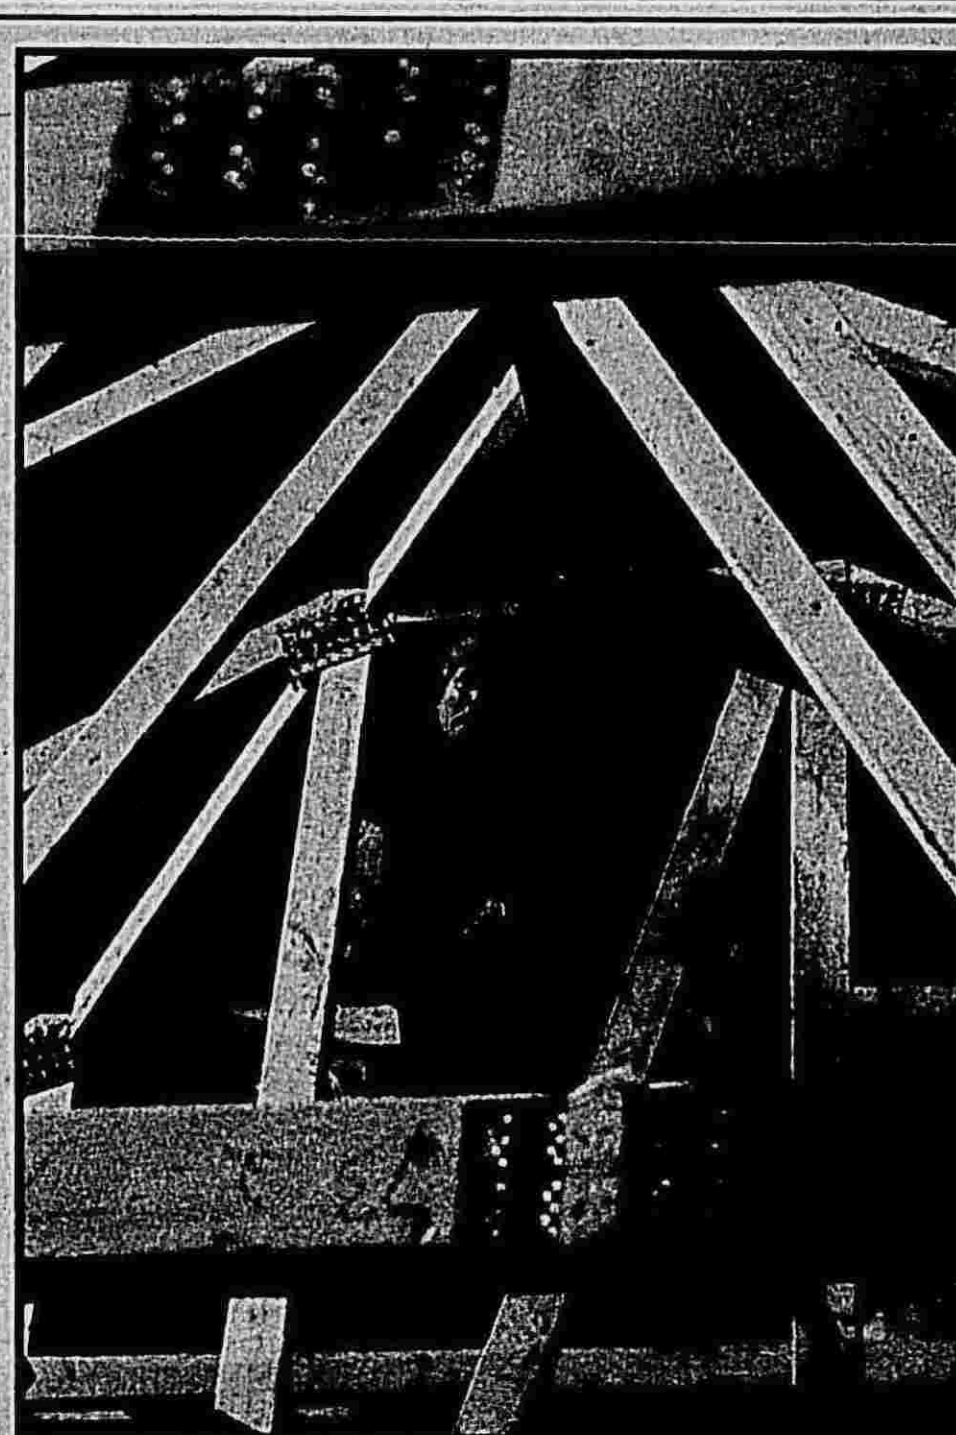

However, BEST president Alan Knutsen sees it differently. "No one but the public school management thinks they are doing a good job," he said. "Our position is no more tax levy increases."

Robert Warrender attacked the administration. "Rather than planning wisely for the future, the administration depleted the surplus by awarding excessive salaries and benefits," he said. "They then approved another handsome contract knowing full well the money was not there to support it. It was this reckless spending policy and not a shortage in funding which created the existing debt. Property owners are now being called on to essentially bail out a failed and wasteful administration which has mismanaged a fund surplus into a $2 million debt."

During the 20-minute opening statements, both sides presented their cases in a professional, succinct manner. Trouble began, however, when the audience was allowed to ask questions. In fact, there were very few questions. Instead, most people got up and vented their frustrations by offering their own position on the issues.

A battle of the numbers began, with both sides providing See BEST page A10

Cable viewers can see Waterway forum

With the Waterway Management Agency nearing the day of its fate, a forum is scheduled to try and convince any straggling opposition or unsure voter.

"When they hear our story, everyone is for us," say officials of the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency.

At the March 7 meeting at Pleviak School in Lake Villa, perhaps more will be convinced or at least learn more about the agency and what it's been doing over the past 10 years since its inception.

The gathering is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Pleviak School, Rte. 83 and Grand Ave. Guest speakers will be Chairman of the Agency, Dr. William C. Dam, and Executive Director Karen Kabbes.

Kabbes will show a slide presentation, besides answering questions, and U.S. Cable Channel 3 will record the forum for later broadcast, March 8 and March 14, the eve of the election. See FORUM page A10

Antioch resident recognized for helping Fox Lake police

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

A resident who displayed outstanding assistance to a police officer in need of a hand was commended by officials.

When James Kuester was driving by a Fox Lake police squad at Oak and Nippersink Rd. on an early February morning, he noticed some disturbance at what should have been just another routine traffic stop.

While Fox Lake Police Officer Dennis Mason was attempting to apprehend Mark S. Hansen, 23, of Spring Grove for driving under the influence, he reportedly became irate and combative.

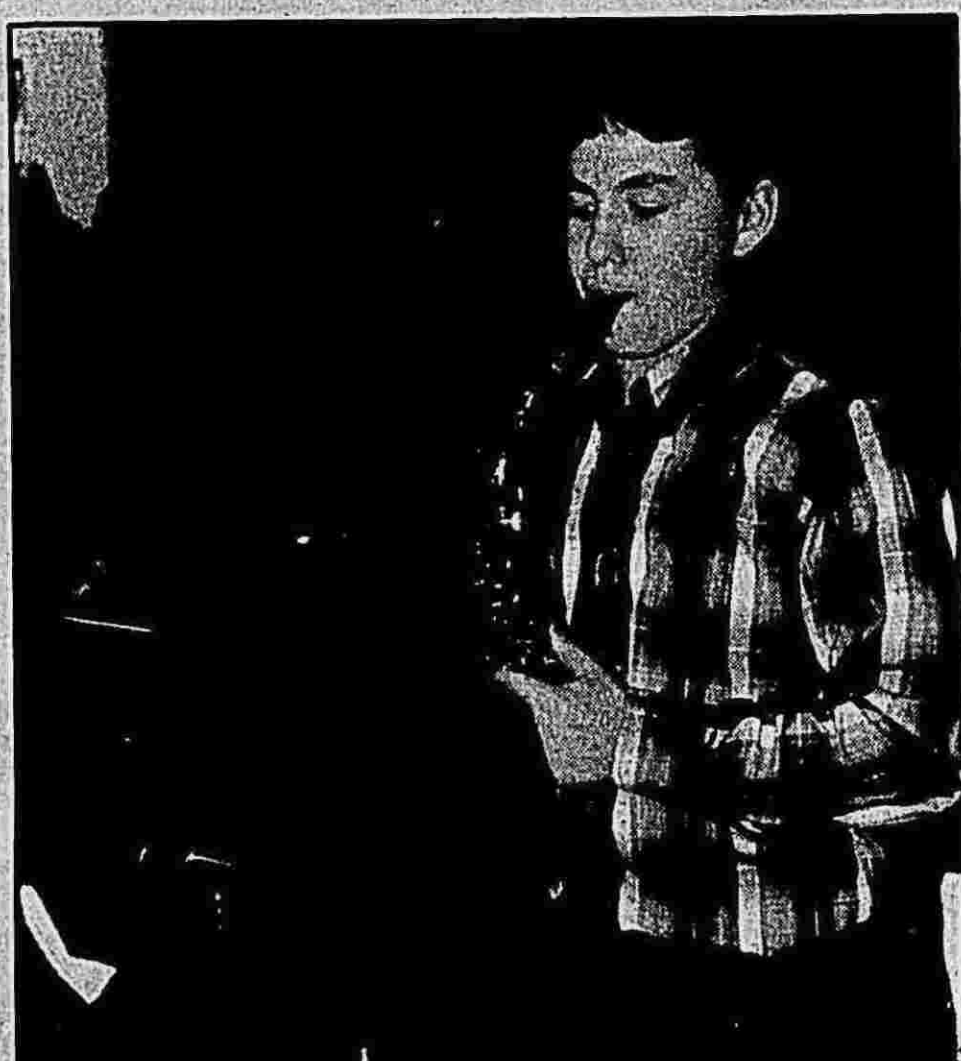

At that moment, Kuester yelled out the window of his vehicle to see if Mason needed some help. Without wasting time for an answer, Kuester hopped out of his car, and assisted the officer in physically restraining the subject so he could be handcuffed.

Hansen was then taken to the Fox Lake Police Department where he was booked and charged with driving under the influence and resisting arrest.

Chief Jim Busch, so impressed by the citizen's quick assistance without being concerned about the safety issue, immediately wrote a letter to Mayor Ken Hamsher.

At the village board meeting the mayor, along with the chief, were happy to present Kuester with a Good Citizenship Award.

"It was a great thing," said Busch. "Things like this don't happen all that often."

Educator talks education vs incarceration

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Clarence Williams, director of special education at Antioch Community High School, spoke to the Antioch Rotary Club about young people in crisis, education versus incarceration.

"This is a problem dear to my heart," said Williams, "because I am both a parent and a teacher." Williams then proceeded to astound club members with statistics of children in trouble. "Every day 10 children a day are killed by guns, every day 6 children commit suicide, every day 512 teens drop out of school, everyday 1,849 children are abused or neglected by their parents..."

Williams went on to tell the audience that a Harvard education costs $19,500 a year. However, it costs taxpayers $19,000 to incarcerate a prisoner for one year.

"Education is less expensive and you get a better return on your money," said Williams. "You can pay for it now, or pay for it later. You can educate or incarcerate."

According to Williams, early intervention is the key to ending the cycle. He told club members, "We can do a lot to keep children out of the youth homes, jails, and prisons."

Mentoring programs was one of the ways Williams suggested to ease the situation. He believes children need to be given a proper foundation from parents and schools need the resources to educate. By doing this, children will have a basis to make good lifestyle choices instead of wrong ones.

Williams lashed out at unfunded mandates by the government. In particular, he discussed HR-6 which would require all states to certify teachers in the particular subject they teach. While in theory this is a good idea, Williams is worried that the schools, particularly in the inner-city areas, would not be able to comply and therefore lose federal funding. Some schools receive up to 8 percent of their budget from the federal government.

Rezoning meetings scheduled by county

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct public hearings to consider rezoning certain parcels of land throughout the county.

Sites in Antioch, Lake Villa and Grant Townships that may have been inappropriately zoned will be addressed at various locations.

Meetings will be held on March 7, at 1:30 p.m., at the Antioch Golf Club, Club Room on Rte. 59 and Grass Lake Rd.; on March 14 at 1:30 p.m. at the Lake Villa Township Hall on 37908 N. Fairfield Rd., Lake Villa; and on March 16 at 1:30 p.m. at the Grant Township Hall, 411 Washington St., Ingleside.

According to the county ZBA, the purpose of these public hearings is to review zoning classifications of those parcels where conflict may exist between the existing land use and zoning.

After review, the zoning board of appeals will make a recommendation to the County Board in regard to appropriate zoning classifications for the parcels in question.

"The general intent is to make the zoning and land use in the Chain consistent with each other," said Mark Askelson of the county ZBA. "We are also fixing errors of the past or creating consistency."

The land targeted in the Grant Township district include four parcels in the areas of Rollins Rd.; Wilson Rd.; and Lakeshore Drive.

Maps showing parcels subject to rezoning are on display on the 8th floor of the County Administration Building, 18 N. County Street, Waukegan. The Antioch, Lake Villa and Grant Township offices also have maps on display showing parcels subject to rezoning within each township.

The owners of property subject to rezoning are being notified of these public hearings by certified mail. Neighbor notices are being provided by regular mail.

For more information on the public hearings, please contact Sheel Yajnik or Askelson at the Department of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality at (708) 360-6412.

Residents in uproar over multi-family zoning

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Village of Antioch denied a variance to Todd Stolarik and Tom VanderMeer to split in half the property located on 307 Ida Street in Antioch. The men offered several proposals for the property which is zoned R-5, multi-family.

According to Robert Silhan, village planner, the property, as it sits, is large enough to support a four-unit structure. The dimensions of the property are 90 feet by 184 feet. At this time, there is an existing building on the property which was built sometime in the '20s.

Residents of Ida Street were out in force, voicing their concerns about renters, parking issues, and general character of the neighborhood.

"If you blackout, I am worried about water problems," said one resident. "Where will the water go? Also, I am worried about where the kids will play."

"We apologize," said VanderMeer. "We are not here to disturb the neighborhood. Originally, we proposed to split the property. We were asking to build a three-unit building on one half and planned to convert the older existing building into three units. We scrapped that plan."

Still residents were unhappy. Many discovered, for the first time, the entire area has been zoned multi-family. The group of mostly seniors, worried about the conversion of older, larger Victorian homes into multi-family dwellings.

"The street is very vulnerable," said Lorraine Toton, who owns a house east of the disputed property. "I think we need to think about the future."

VanderMeer discussed other proposed plans for the property which included simply adding three units to the existing building and building an owner-occupied duplex on half the property while leaving the existing building as is. Adding units to the existing building would not require a variance.

"What we are trying to do is make it aesthetically pleasing," said VanderMeer. "We can just slam up three more apartments and you can have the transients you are now worried about."

In the end, the board voted to deny the variance and send the matter back to the planning commission so that the duplex plan can be reviewed. The board also suggested to the upset residents that they could have their own property rezoned to R-3, single residence, in an effort to avoid these problems in the future.

ACHS students share science knowledge

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

For the second year, the honors chemistry students, under the supervision of instructor Sharon Peterson, shared their knowledge of science with students in grades 4-8 in the Science Alliance Program.

"I am so proud of my students," said Peterson. "They are wonderful teachers and role models for the young children. This program has grown in success and has helped science teachers district-wide to become a real team."

The program is funded by grant money from two private local corporations, PPG Industries in Gurnee and Infotrac Corporation of Fox Lake and Libertyville. The companies have supported the program for the two years it has been in operation.

The Antioch High School students develop lessons and materials for the younger students. Three schools a month visit the high school's chemistry lab to be instructed by the older students.

The younger students actually "do chemistry" in this hands-on program.

"It's great to know that industry is still willing to help educators and students," said Peterson. "We are so thankful for their support."

MARY FOLEY

At age 100, Eva Fields died Friday, Feb. 25. She leaves behind a son, Ronald Barron, granddaughters Melody and Vicki, and great grandchildren Jamie and Jason. However, all of Antioch will be affected by her passing.

Fields was a member of the United Methodist Church of Antioch, past president and chaplain of the American Legion Auxiliary, past Noble Grand and chaplain of the Lakeside Rebekah Lodge after 72 years of membership, member and chaplain of the Royal Neighbors Olsen Camp, charter member and chaplain of the VFW Auxiliary of Lake Villa, and a member of AARP. She was also a member of two card clubs.

Fields recently celebrated her 100th birthday in her home surrounded by well wishers. She held visitors enthralled with stories of her past.

"I was born in a snowstorm," said Fields. "The blacksmith rode into Hainseville to get the doctor."

Fields was a walking wealth of history. Listeners could sit for hours and listen to the history of Antioch and Lake Villa.

Fields was born six miles south of Lake Villa on January 10 1894, in a town called Monaville. In 1911, she came to Antioch and worked as a cook for the Old Simons House of Antioch. She went on to work for 21 years at the Antioch Community High School in the cafeteria.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, March 1 at the Strang Funeral Home. Pastor Kurt Gamlin, who was a friend of Fields, officiated. Interment was at Hillside Cemetery.

Happy birthday to poet Guy Vignola, 78 wishes granted

Special poet

As a hobby, Guy Vignola has dabbled in poetry throughout his 78 years of existence. It was always his desire to have his poetry read, appreciated and possibly published. In honor of Guy's March 4, 78th birthday, his daughter, Joan Carvis of Antioch, gave me a collection of dad's poems to read in order that I may include one or two in "Hometown Goodies" for the enjoyment of my readers.

Joan felt this would make dad's dream come true, if even in a small way, and this particular column will then be Joan's extra surprise gift for Guy's birthday.

I truly enjoyed reading them and selected a few that I will share over the next couple of weeks. Guy still resides in Chicago with his bride of 53 years, Helen.

Happy March 4 birthday, Guy. I enjoyed your poems and please keep writing.

Now—"Remembering," by Guy Vignola:

Please remember me and love me while I am here to enjoy it. So when I am no longer around, your tears for me will be because you miss me—not tears saying you should have remembered and loved me more.

(Written Nov. 23, 1985).

In our thoughts

I have been told that this "Hometown Goodies" column is very popular because it contains positive, up-beat, happy news tidbits. I must momentarily drift slightly from the norm, as I share the following tidbit.

We often hear of tragedies in the lives of others. When this information comes our way and it involves names and faces that are not familiar to us, most of us quietly reflect on the situation, count our blessings and move on.

However, when it happens to someone we know and love, it touches us, affects us in a different way.

Recently, Patrick (PJ) Smerz, a fine 19-year-old young man, was seriously injured in an automobile accident. Patrick lived with his family in the Grass Lake area of Antioch for many years. He spent many hours in our home playing with our son, Jim. He moved to Ingleside several years ago, but still has contact with many of his friends and school mates of the Grass Lake area.

His injuries are extensive and severe, yet he is recovering a little more each day. He is definitely hanging in there. He is definitely a fighter. His family is naturally at his side. He is also in the thoughts and prayers of many old friends and acquaintances.

If you know Patrick and/or his family, and would like to send along a caring, encouraging message, please contact me and I will be glad to tell you where to send your mail.

As I write this tidbit, Patrick remains in intensive care. Please know that much prayer is needed and appreciated.

Hang in there "Smerz" and please tell Patrick a lot of people are pulling for him.

Going strong

David Allen Case, Antioch's very own young actor, is now playing the part of Jim, a college student, in "One Life to Live." He will be featured in today's show, March 4, and again on Tuesday, March 8. He is scheduled for two more appearances to be announced.

Some of David's other acting experiences include an "Off Broadway" performance of Julius Caesar with the Modern Theatre Group. He will be playing the part of Mark Anthony. David recently showcased Hamlet.

His mom, Brenda Case of the Park Avenue Antique Mall, has many autographed pictures of David available. If you know David personally, or if you would like a picture of our "Hometown" actor, stop in at the mall and Brenda will be glad to distribute the pictures to all interested parties while supplies last.

After you watch David as Jim, please take a moment of your time to send a postcard complimenting "Jim," the character he plays. Mail your fan mail to One Life to Live, 157 Columbus Ave., New York, NY 10023.

Loving dad

Once again daddy, Neal Pringle, is hard at work showing his daughter, Tricia, how special she is to him. However, part of a recent fatherly special remembrance scheme did not work out according to plans.

Neal ran a special birthday ad in "The Advertiser" in honor of Tricia's fifth birthday. When the paper came out, Neal called Tricia's attention to the ad. Tricia read her name and exclaimed, "Oh, that Miss Liz, she put my name in the paper!" Neal told her it wasn't Miss Liz. Then she guessed a few other family members who she thought were responsible for it—never giving dear old dad a thought.

However, when a beautiful bouquet of flowers and a white stuffed puppy showed up at Camp Crayon, she immediately knew they were from "daddy." Once again the card was addressed to his "Special Princess."

Once again I am reminded of the good people in this world.

Congratulations, Neal, you made Tricia's day; and once again happy fifth birthday to a very "special little princess" indeed!

Emmons School

If you reside in the Emmons School Dist. and are the parent of a 3- or 4-year-old, Emmons is offering preschool screenings, if you are concerned about your child's speech, general progress, or other developmental skills. If you would like to have your child screened, please contact the school on or before March 11.

Please remember that Emmons School will be having a building referendum on the ballot of the March 15 election. Emmons is a fine K-8 school facility. Due to extensive building within the district, Emmons is faced with a space shortage. They are addressing these issues by asking the voters to approve a much-needed addition to the school. Emmons is seeking much voter support and urges anyone with questions concerning the referendum to contact the school to obtain further information.

Delicious pancakes

Please remember that the ACHS Student Assistance Program and the ALL Parent Network is hosting a pancake breakfast this Sunday, March 6, from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The proceeds will go to ACE, ALPHA, Red Ribbon Week and ALL Parent Network to be used towards post-prom activities.

Dairy Queen is proof spring headed this way

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Despite the heavy snows, ice, and frigid temperatures, spring is really on its way. And, the first sign of spring is the annual reopening of the Dairy Queen on Main Street in Antioch.

"We're opening a little early this year," said David Mateja, manager. "But, only by a couple of days."

Dairy Queen opened for the 1994 season Saturday with a sale featuring 20 percent off everything. If you missed that, don't miss the sale March 3-6, offering the Peanut Buster Parfait for only 79 cents.

Besides ice cream treats, Dairy Queen offers foot-long hot dogs, regular hot dogs, Polish sausage, soft drinks, and BBQ sandwiches. During the spring, DQ is open Sunday through Thursday, 11:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., until 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

The migratory birds may not be back yet, but spring is definitely on its way when DQ opens for the season.

Shop Antioch Plan ahead for spring

One day soon we will all wake up to the sun shining, birds singing, the grass growing, and a warm breeze in the air. It might sound hard to believe right now, but already March is here and winter is on its way out. People are already looking ahead to the warm weather and planning how to enjoy it.

In Antioch, merchants are busy gearing up for spring. Last minute orders are being placed, merchandise is being delivered daily and unpacking is underway, special promotions are being planned, and spring is beginning to bloom in Antioch.

Make the most of the sun with beautiful crystal prisms from Austria that just arrived at J.J. Blinks. When the sun catches these prisms, they create an almost magical rainbow of colors. Available in lots of shapes and sizes, they can add sparkle to any room.

Wouldn't it be great to plan ahead by calling and reserving a video rental for this weekend? To plan on spending a Saturday night watching one of the hottest new movies on video? Antioch Video, located on Orchard Street, will reserve a movie for you (up to a week ahead of time) thus guaranteeing the movie you want to enjoy is available and you won't get stuck watching something you didn't really want to see. Video rentals aren't that hard to find, but the services offered by Action Video are certainly outstanding. VCR repair and rental are just two services they specialize in. (They also screen rentals by young children, alerting parents to the rating and amount of violence and nudity.) These services have made the present celebration of their 11th anniversary possible.

If you're looking ahead to a new season and tired of wearing the same uniform to work day after day, perhaps it's time to stop by Accent Uniforms, located on Lake Street, to treat yourself to an updated fashion. Lois has provided Antioch with 12 years of service, offering uniforms for food service and health care professionals. If size is a concern, stop by and discover the wide size range they fit. Comfortable shoes are always in stock and a must for those of us on our feet all day long.

Innovative Screen Printing and T-Shirt Emporium has gone to the dogs and pigs and cows and bunnies...yes, it's true. They will be carrying an expanded inventory containing a selection of very unique items for both inside and outside of your home. T-shirts will still be plentiful, but stop by for a look at their new expanded selection.

Keep in mind while planning for your summer wedding, that Cathy's Cottage offers elegant silk floral arrangement for the formal wedding or bright and cheery arrangements for the small intimate affair.

Don't forget, while you're planning ahead to spring, Antioch merchants are gearing up to offer you the best of the season.

Alliance-supported precinct candidates tell goals

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Alliance for Better Government, a political action group, is supporting a candidate for County Board and 13 precinct committee people.

Leonard J. Mattson is running for precinct committeeman in Precinct 13. Len is a long-time resident of Lake County, graduating from Cedar Lake Elementary School and Antioch Community High School. He attended University of Illinois, receiving a degree in General Engineering.

Mattson has pursued a career in the heavy construction machinery industry. He has held managerial positions at Komatsu Dresser, International Harvester, Allis Chalmers, and Marion Power Shovel Division of Dresser.

Mattson resides in Antioch with his wife, Vi, and enjoys visits from their family of eight children, six grandchildren, and one great-grandson. Whenever possible, Mattson hits the greens.

"As a result of residing in four states, plus extensive worldwide travel, I have come to value our unique American way of life," said Mattson. "It is also evident that responsibilities must accompany rights and benefits and I would like to contribute in a small way to our local government."

Phil Bielawski is a candidate for Precinct 8. He lives in the Grass Lake area of Antioch and has lived there for 25 years. Bielawski attended Carthage College, receiving an AS degree in building construction technology. He is currently working on advanced degrees in Architecture and Civil Technology.

Bielawski is employed at Underwriters Labs in Northbrook as a designer, and is in charge of a special wildlife project. He is an avid environmentalist and is active with the Wildlife Education Foundation in Lake Villa.

"Many people come to the Antioch area because of the country atmosphere in the Chain O' Lakes. I intend to listen to residents' concerns related to Township construction," explains Bielawski. "I will support local environmental concerns while planning ahead for Township growth. I will help create a township government that would take the lead in assisting our communities and subdivisions with a balance between the Township's growth and the environmental protection of our lakes, Antioch's number one natural resource."

James Leonhardt is a candidate for Precinct 7, and is currently a Realtor for Century 21 in Lindenhurst. Leonhardt has worked on a number of campaigns including Congressman Marty Russo and Speaker of the House Mike Madigan. He actively canvassed areas with phone calls, mallers, signs, and even knocked on doors.

Leonhardt is a committee member for Lake County

Association of Realtors and is an active member in the Lake Villa Lions Club for the past four years.

When asked, Leonhardt believes his strengths are, "Strong communication, negotiation, organization, and problem solving skills."

FROM THE CAPITAL

US Cong. Phillip M. Crane (R)

Clinton budget is unrealistic

We had hopes President Clinton would present Congress with a budget providing for less spending. He didn't. And some of the spending cuts he did request, are certain to be turned down.

The President's call for the spending of $1.5 trillion is $34 billion above what Congress appropriated after his last request.

The budget calls for an increase of $346 billion in five years. Under the five-year spending plans outlined in his budget, overall government spending would expand during his presidential term from $1.4 trillion to $1.7 trillion.

The President insisted he was proposing no new taxes. He apparently overlooked his call for a 75 cent per pack, to 99 cents, tax on cigarettes to help pay for health care reform.

But the budget calls for some unrealistic assumptions.

The President wants to eliminate 115 programs. How would you rate the chances of success in this area? Zero, or close to zero? When is the last time the liberal spending Congress cut out domestic programs?

Many of Mr. Clinton's proposals for chopping federal spending have been made by previous administrations, and Congress turned down the proposals.

An example of this wishful thinking cost reduction is the President's plan to cut $1.3 billion from spending for the low-income home energy assistance program. At last count, 51 senators were on record as opposing such cuts.

And one specific cut proposed by the President which we believe is far too small is that requested for the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA). He would chop only $1 million from the $173 million given the NEA last year. As many of our constituents know, we have tried to eliminate that program in the past, and we'll try again this year.

The amount of deficit spending will shrink this year, although, of course, deficit spending will continue if President Clinton's budget is approved. It will shrink because of increased revenues this year from the passage in 1993 of the largest tax package in this nation's history. But, as we predicted when the tax bill was debated last year, the deficit will begin to climb again after 1988.

The President wants to increase spending by $345 billion in the next five years. That's hardly the way to reduce the national debt of over $4 trillion.

We have been calling for a near-freeze of government spending for a number of years now. We would not freeze cost-of-living allowances (COLAS) since those increases reflect inflation resulting from big government spending. With the yearly increases in revenues, a freeze on government spending would result in a balanced budget by the end of the decade.

Dance and raffle goes tropical

"A Night in the Tropics" will be the theme of this year's annual spring dance held by the Oakwood Knolls Property Owners Association. Open to everyone, the dance will be held at the Antioch VFW Hall on North Avenue on March 12, beginning at 6 p.m.

Starting with cocktails at 6 p.m., a delicious luau style buffet will be catered by Marvela's at 7:30 p.m. After dinner, there will be dancing from 9 p.m. until midnight.

Entertainment will be provided by Dance Connections, which will offer a wide variety of music and dance contests. Ticket costs for the event are $20 per person and $15 for senior citizens. Tickets can be obtained from the First National Bank of Antioch, the State Bank of the Lakes, and Realty World. Tickets will be also sold at the door.

Besides great dining and dancing, there will a large selection of door prizes. First prize will be $150 in cash, second prize will be a 1993 Ducks Unlimited Print donated by Colette & Ano Plumbing, and third prize is a limited edition plate (Hawaiian Splendor Series) donated by Pickard China. Other prizes include dinner for two at the Grand Geneva Resort, a pizza a month from Pizza Plus, 1993 American Eagle silver dollar donated by the First National Bank of Antioch, and a Sony dream machine clock radio donated by the State Bank of the Lakes.

Raffle tickets are $1 each or six for $5. They can be obtained in advance or at the dance. All tickets will be available until March 8. For more information call Diane at 395-5994 or Mary 395-2676.

The dance is for a good cause. The money goes towards maintenance, upkeep, and other costs associated with the Association's beach park.

Martini opposed to developer's higher density

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

At last week's meeting of the Antioch Village Zoning Board, America Today Developers asked the board for approval to increase the number of proposed homes from 307 to 381. The board unanimously rejected the plan, however, it is expected that the proposal will be pitched to the full village board on March 7.

The developers met with strong opposition from residents as well as Judy Martini, Republican contender for county board. Martini, an avid protector of the wetlands was asked to attend the meeting by residents. According to Martini, America Today's planned proposal is in an environmentally sensitive area with wetlands and impervious surfaces.

"The developer is deviating from the Army Corps of Engineers 1989 permit and is considering filling in the wetlands in some areas to allow for more buildable lots," explained Martini. "If the village grants the developer the right to downsize these lots, the Army Corps will have to sign off first. The developer is also suggesting running a street through the wetland corridor to allow for adequate ingress and egress for emergency vehicles. I fail to see how running a concrete slab through a wetland is going to enhance it."

The Antioch Village Board recently approved an extension of 90 more days to the Windmill Creek Development. The development has yet to complete certain public and quasi-public improvements.

This will be the second extension that the developer has received. In December, the developer asked for an extension of one year. However, the board denied that request.

The new extension, which will run until April 18, serves to forestall the board from drawing on the letter of credit. To date, the developer has not completed the public sidewalks and erosion control measures.

Residents at the meeting also expressed concerns about storm water run-off. Apparently, there is a problem with a pond located in the planned development. At this time, it is not known why the pond has expanded. More time is needed to determine the cause.

"I'm concerned about the run-off problems which these postage stamp sized lots might have because of the natural terrain of the area," said Martini. "The developer is proposing to dig small channels in front of some of the homes to control storm water, but as we all know the water has to go somewhere and water flows down hill. Residents are concerned about potential flooding problems in low lying areas."

Martini suggested that homeowners should not bear the burden of a down-slump in the real estate market at the development. "It is through no fault of the property owners that this development did not take off as the developer planned," said Martini. "The market just did not warrant sales of this range during these economic hard times. The existing property owners bought their homes with the understanding that there were covenants and restrictions in place which guaranteed that future development would mutually enhance the market values of their homes.

"These homeowners should not be asked to take a hit because the development didn't flourish as hoped," Martini continued. "I applaud the zoning board for their actions and hope the village board will take this into consideration when they decide."

Martini encourages residents to attend the Antioch Village Board meeting scheduled for March 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Antioch Village Hall.

Lake Villa board continues to seek baseball field deal

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

A meeting date has been set for Lake Villa, Lake County Forest Preserve and Lake Villa Township Baseball League to get together and discuss how baseball fields can come to Sun Lake Forest Preserve.

The meeting was scheduled for March 2 at 7 p.m. at Lake Villa Village Hall, after Lakeland Newspapers goes to press. The issue is discovery, finding out what the forest preserve is looking for in guarantees, and what is required for the village and the league.

"The baseball people are confused and aren't sure what they are supposed to do," Mayor Frank Loffredo said. "We are not sure what the forest preserve wants. Now we can all meet together and figure out what we need to do to get it done."

The village maintains an agreement with the forest preserve calling for 15 acres in playing fields in exchange for donating the land for the Sun Lake Preserve off Grass Lake Road. The village attempted to sign an inter-governmental agreement with the forest preserve but the preserve has yet to sign it.

The forest preserve wants assurances the environment is protected. The preserve also wants to insure the use for the site stays the same and doesn't change.

The meeting is an attempt by all parties to find a solution to unanswered questions. The hope is the meeting will speed the process for agreement between the parties involved.

The league is not just Lake Villa Township in scope. There are kids from Antioch, Grant Township, Gurnee who also play in the league. Approximately 650 kids participate in the league. The problem for the league is finding enough fields to accommodate the children who wish to play.

The league has a site plan calling for three to four fields. The site would include a public address system and a concession stand. The league would construct and maintain the facility. The village would provide security and garbage removal.

"The baseball league needs the fields. We are talking with the forest preserve to figure out how to access the use of playing fields," Loffredo said.

Discussing where the best sites will be

Left to right, Woody Boedecker, co-chairman of the Lake County branch of the CCCA (Concerned Citizens for the Continuation of the Agency); Don Roseboom of the Illinois State Water Survey agency in Peoria; and Ingrid West of the Lake County Health Department lakes management unit, were among a number of members of the Technical Advisory Committee discussing shoreline protection demonstration sites on the Fox River and Chain O' Lakes. They met at the Grant Township Hall in Ingleside.

SWALCO OK's hazardous waste agreement

SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Solid Waste Agency of Lake County board members approved a draft copy of a household hazardous waste agreement, opening the doors for negotiations for communities who want to host the drop-off sites.

The agreement lists the agency's obligations and needs to be approved by the community before any further action could be taken, said Andrew Quigley, SWALCO executive director.

Among other items included in the terms are: the agency will obtain all permits from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to enable the facility to store material for up to 30 days; the facility will be operated by the agency at no cost to the village and its residents; and an emergency response plan will be prepared by the agency and submitted for approval by the fire department having jurisdiction over the site.

It will be open to Lake County residents no more than every Saturday and Sunday and for a maximum of six hours per day. The agency will also secure and maintain insurance with limits of no less than $1 million per occurrence and $2 million per year to protect the agency and village against any and all claims made against the facility or IEPA, its agents, or employees.

The sites would accept items found under kitchen sinks, in basements or out in garages, such as paints, pesticides, household cleaners and oil, among others.

He said two communities have already expressed interest in the facility, adding while they ideally would like to have sites in the northeast and southwest portions of the County, they will not force any community to house the site.

"My intention would be to get the community to agree, or some form of agreement on the (facility) and return to my board to have them approve it," Quigley said.

Plans call for having a site up and running in less than one year, with an estimated start-up cost for site development and engineering of around $250,000, and annually operating costs of around $300,000, he said.

Only a portion of the annual cost would be incurred the first year, probably amounting to a total of $100,000, Quigley said.

He will present a more detailed budget to the agency's board of directors at its March meeting.

Forum

"This is a chance for people to give us new life by continuing the agency, and keeping the people who use the waters paying for the improvements we are making. We'll outline those (improvements) on Monday," said Dr. Dam.

A group of local residents in both McHenry and Lake counties have networked to support the cause.

Headed by co-chairmen, Woodrow Boedecker and Pete Jakstas Sr.; and Jerry Cordrey and Chuck Miller, the CCCA (Concerned Citizens for the Continuation of the Agency) are getting the word out before the election March 15.

The CCCA wants people to understand the Waterway Agency, in existence since 1984, will be doomed, if the referendum to keep it going doesn't get passed.

"We use no property taxes, we have no power to enact taxes, and only the people who use the waters pay for our agency with boat-stickers," said Dr. Dam. The CCCA agrees and is spreading the word.

"The dredging, raking, buoys, and environmental concerns are paid for by people who use the waters. It's an ideal situation," a CCCA spokesperson.

Districts affected by the agency include Grant, Lake Villa, and Antioch Townships and a small part of Cuba Township in Lake County; and a meandering district straddling the Fox River in portions of McHenry County.

For more information on the campaign to keep the agency alive, contact the CCCA at (815) 385-3538.

a dizzying array of facts, figures, and percentages. Several times during the "debate", BEST representatives threatened to leave after the audience began verbally battering them.

Ron Chilcote, the Glencoe Grade School business manager attacked BEST's interpretation of school funding. Antioch High School Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley quipped, "Maybe Mr. Warrender would benefit from a course on school funding."

Larry Lubeck, an Antioch resident, then challenged the claims on BEST's fact sheet that teachers have received a 7 percent annual increase. In response Schley said, "In the last three years there have not been 7 percent raises."

At this point things began to get out of hand. Moderator of the debate, Roy Sackschewsky, informed the audience, "We are not here to attack people."

Knutsen responded by saying, "The 7 percent raises were not in the '90s. The damage was done before the '90s. Every word in our flyers is weighed very carefully. The flyer says those raises were in the past."

John Logan then challenged BEST salary information releases. "Fourteen of the teachers listed are from Allendale. BEST's averages were off by adding in the Allendale teachers," he said.

In the end, there really weren't any creative solutions offered. BEST attempted to offer some ideas but was shouted down by the audience. The school's position remains the same. It needs more money to provide a quality education. BEST position was not altered, no more tax increases.

The bottom line will be up to the voters.

Lightning wins two matches

The Lindenhurst Lightning (under-12) indoor soccer team cruised to an easy 6-1 victory over Evanston Blue.

The Lightning offense used crisp passing and accurate shooting to dominate the game offensively.

Defensive stars were Jay Sturt, Mark Sanderson, Jon Medelke, Clint Ludden, Ryan Hlinak and Josh Boller were very effective in breaking up Evanston attacks and supporting their forwards.

Quinn Gooch led the scorers with 2 goals, and one each was scored by Nick Placko, Keli Owens, Matt Nolan, and Peter Gedvilas. Other offensive stars were Kevin Nelson, Andy Lyon and Scott Bender. The Lightning improved their record to 4-2.

In the previous week's game the Lightning faced Waukegan Blaze and came away with a 4-1 win. The Lightning's tenacious defense played well the entire game, keeping things close in the first half when their offense could not find the net and took a 1-0 half-time lead. But the Lindenhurst defenders shut out the Blaze in the second half while the offense found its mark.

Owens scored the first two goals as the Lightning took the lead. Sturt, who usually plays defense, was moved up to forward where he scored twice to seal the victory.

Racing show makes run

Approximately 50 racing cars are on display through March 6 at Lakehurst Mall in Waukegan.

The event - the BARS Auto Racing Show is in its 18th season, third back at Lakehurst.

"This is the earliest we have ever had the show, so we appreciate the efforts in getting cars ready," director Mike Babicz said.

The show actually started Wednesday with hours of 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Friday. Saturday hours are 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Sunday hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Defending best-of-show champ Landry Potter of Genoa, City, Wisc. is expected to be on hand.

"It is close to the beginning of the season, but far enough away to give the drivers a vacation for a week. We run a pretty professional show," Babicz said.

Tom Jones, a Gurnee driver, will be on hand showing his car which won the AM Speed Assn. race in Pennsylvania last fall.

Also expected to draw attention is the Nitro Fuel Altered Funny Car built by Mike Faser of Naperville. It is the only car of its kind East of the Rockies.

7 Viking wrestlers advance from regional tournament

There were some familiar last names for Grayslake Rams wrestling fans who took home trophies from a junior high school regional wrestling tourney in Gurnee Saturday.

There was Mike Cherwa, gaining a first place at 70 pounds and Josh Gaughran, first at 119. Both have older brothers wrestling for the Rams.

Grayslake's squad ran away with the team title with 290 points, leaving the rest of the field battling for second. Carl Sandburg of Mundelein won that battle with 168. Round Lake was third with 125 and Viking fourth with 106.

"I expected us to win, but not by this much," Grayslake Coach Graham Marshall said.

Taking first-place finishes on to sectional at Holmes Junior High in Wheeling March 5 are: Mille Beverly at 85 pounds; Tony Cammaratta at 90; Lukas Day at 126; Vince Carrerra at 135; Dale Bowser at 145; Dave Weber at 155 and William Gomez at heavy-weight.

Second-place finishers were: Erick Laurence at 75 pounds; Kyle Graves at 80 pounds; Jason Schultz at 85 pounds; Joe Kane at 145 and Rick Anderson at 155.

Third-place winners were: Marlin Schreider at 95 pounds;

Jeff Schweiss at 100 pounds; Steve Dennis at 105 pounds; Dave Wallin at 112 pounds; Rick Thayer at 135; T.J. Marx at 155; Mike Janosko at 167 and David Bruce at 185 and C.J. Pashke at 129 pounds.

"Everyone pretty much took the place they were expected to," Marshall said.

The Panthers receive pointers from an assistant coach who can recall such tourneys at Viking Junior High sparked him to become a state qualifier.

"I like watching the guys win," Curt Onstad said.

Viking Coach Dennis Sego is pleased with seven sectional qualifiers.

"It was much higher than we had anticipated," he said.

The qualifiers are led by Nathan Ochoa, who won the 70-pound title. Jerry Lentz won at 167 and Derek Koth also won, at 105 over teammate Luke Tessman.

Second-place winners are: Sean Donnalyn at 90 pounds and Josh Worley at 119 pounds.

Round Lake qualifiers are led by Josh Short, first at 185 pounds; Kyle Jones, first at 155; Troy Robinson, second at heavy-weight; Jose Meyers and Kyle Parker, and John Pacillas, all who took third places.

Kessel gains No. 350, MHS focus on Waukegan

It has been a memorable year of milestones at Mundelein High.

There was Kyle Kessel setting the all-time scoring mark for Lake County. A few minutes later, Thad Miller became the fifth Mustang to score over 1,000 points and Tuesday another highlight was added.

Coach Dennis Kessel notched win No. 350 in his career as Mundelein ousted Antioch 65-42.

Kyle Kessel, Dennis's son, scored 20 points as Mundelein pulled away in the second half. Gerald Coleman had 13, Miller 12 and Sean Stackhouse 11 for Mundelein (26-1).

The win advances the Mustangs to its own regional final round March 4 at home against Waukegan. Tip-off is at 7:30 p.m.

Mundelein has defeated Antioch twice in one week. How does Coach Jeff Dresser assess Mundelein's post-season chances.

"It depends on how well they are shooting from the outside. A team could hurt them with a big man and an effective guard," Dresser said.

Waukegan (11-14) used superior rebounding to oust Grant 68-56. Carl Cooper was Waukegan's leader with 20 and Shannon King had 19.

Antioch trailed 31-17 at half-time at Mundelein, but cut the lead to 9 in the third period. Mundelein then put any concerns of the big home crowd to rest with a spurt.

"We controlled the tempo but they played tougher defense," Dresser said.

Tony Kucharski had 12 points, Adam Becker and Dan Newcomb each had 11.

Antioch was without leading scorer Eric Eckenstahler, who was ill. He finished with 16 points a game and 8.5 rebounds as well as 118 blocks.

"It can be an intimidating factor," Dresser said.

Adam Becker had 55 three-pointers and will return with Eckenstahler next year.

Other juniors looking to help Antioch do better than five wins next year are: Dave Smith, who will be back from an injury; Dave Lawrence, and Newcomb. The Antioch sophomores finished 11-5 in the North Suburban Conference, in third place.

Tourney notebook : the other regional final determined Tuesday was Deerfield at Grayslake. Deerfield's 76-75 win over Stevenson means two sub .500 teams will vie for regional titles March 4....Grayslake Coach Greg Groth is a fan of three-point shots, but keep them in the games. Groth said the three-point shootout is a distraction. "We had 200 people here at 6 p.m. People get too restless. Have it at Waukegan the Saturday before regionals," he said....Libertyville, the third seed, had an all-state player leading the way against Round Lake Wednesday. Matt Heldman was named last week.

Taking matters step by step, Rams belong with the best

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

The first step was a breeze for Grayslake Rams climb to post-season powerhouse status.

It helps when you score 51 points in a half - that's right, half, on 20-for-27 shooting in an 82-61 win over Lake Zurich Tuesday.

And when leading scorer Dave Mendralla scores 22 of his 30 points in 16 minutes.

And when Geoff Sponholtz, fresh from winning the three-point competition, adds four more when they all really count in a 28-point outing.

And when fans, gathered before the start of the three-point competition, boost a team with Chicago-Bulls like introductions and the 10th win in 11 games at home.

"We scored 50 points in a half in my sophomore year," Mendralla said.

Mendralla, a junior, topped the 1,000 point mark in the third quarter.

"Now we have another home game. The community is really starting to get behind us. Everybody is confident. The way we played in the first half, we can beat anyone in the county, but you never know. It is a lot of fun," Mendralla said.

"How the offense was executing in the first half did not really matter because we were shooting so well. The defense was playing good. We had pretty good shooting from the outside in the first half," Mendralla said.

The Rams have confidence in their center's ability to shoot the three-pointer. "It has really come around. Ever since Christmas, he has been shooting really well lately. He can shoot from inside or outside," Mendralla said.

"Once we started playing Parr (John) inside, I could slide Geoff outside. The first half of the year Geoff made a big sacrifice. He has 35-40 three-pointers and most came in the last 15 ballgames. We have some special plays we execute for Geoff," Groth said.

But what about those first 16 minutes?

"That first half is about as well as we can play. Mendralla was unbelievable that first half. The whole team played the first half well," Rams Coach Greg Groth said.

"They shot the ball very well in the first half," Lake Zurich Coach Doug Cook said.

The Rams wanted to stop Pat DeVito (15 points) penetration. And after a rocky start in that department, the Rams (19-6) did just that. Derek Touchette scored 27 points in a valiant effort in a losing cause for the 9-16 Bears.

Cook said DeVito played a strong game as well. "The only problem was we could not get him the ball enough and he is our point guard," Cook said.

"Derek had a fine senior year. He finished his senior year like a senior should finish it - he left it all on the court," Cook said.

"I think we do prepare well for teams. We do not over-prepare. We do not scout teams. We are very confident to shut down teams," Groth said.

Groth saw Lake Zurich upend Jacobs in overtime Friday and was worried.

But a three-pointer by Sponholtz gave the Rams a 5-4 lead, a margin which would only grow. A driving lay-up and another long-range three pointer upped the lead to 21-8.

Lake Zurich cut the lead to 9, but three critical turnovers led to a 10-0 Rams run which put this one out of reach.

"I think there are a lot more steps than people realize. Step one was winning the conference, this is step two. I just want to keep walking," Groth said.

Kerns closes in on century mark

Grayslake Rams wrestling fans should not miss the season opener for the 1994-95 year.

History could be made at that meet as Joe Kerns battles for his 100th win. Kerns, a 135-pounder, improved his mark to 99-21-1 in qualifying for the sectional his junior year.

"He has his mat techniques down, but he has to focus on footwork and being a takedown technician," Grayslake Coach Eric Skoog said.

Kerns had his season end at the Barrington sectional where he lost to the eventual fourth-place finisher from Fremd 4-3.

Kerns, the team's MVP, and Eddie Pak are leading Grayslake's hopefuls of talented returnees. Pak had 72 takedowns.

Other promising returnees include: freshman and sectional qualifier Jason Cherwa at 112 pounds; Nick Day, who was named the outstanding soph; Chris Walls at heavyweight; and Chip Jensen, who wrestled from 125-145.

The Rams finished over .500 in dual meets in Skoog's first season. It was at times difficult, as a near full roster was diminished by injury or wrestlers leaving the team.

"People who wanted to wrestle for Grayslake were there. We're picking up the pace for next year. I had a chance to see what successful programs do in the off-season," Skoog said.

Up-and-coming freshmen could be Bill Graves at 119; Dennis Adkins at 160 and Shuan Yates, the top junior varsity wrestler and Justin Wood at 135.

Stars shine; Lightning lose

The Buffalo Grove Strikers were no match for the Lindenhurst Stars soccer team, taking the short end of a 4-1 score.

Tied at half-time 1-1, the Stars poured it on, pushing their indoor record to 6-1. This gives them a solid hold on second place, with a shot at first in two weeks.

Again Megan Rinkenberger and Susan Gosciniak were splendid in goal.

Scoring was provided by Amie Carlberg (2 goals), Mandy Fasano and Emmy Kane. Sammie Korbal had two assists and Amie Smit had one.

The Stars next game is at Poplar Creek Sports Centre in Hoffman Estates.

The Lindenhurst Lightning indoor soccer team came up short against a tough Trevian Blue team. Trevian emerged with a 6-4 win, causing the Lightning's season record to fall to 4-3.

Gambit's three-point shot proves sweet for Rockets

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Every second option should work out as well.

Natalie Gambit took a pass from Allyson McNabb just in front of Richmond-Burton bench, some 20 feet from the Somonauk basket Thursday.

All eyes at St. Francis High in Wheaton watched as The Shot swished home for a 47-44 Rockets win and a spot in the Sweet Sixteen.

"Natalie made more three's tonight than she did all year," Coach Lay said after the trip to the supersectional was secured.

Gambit, the former Carmel High standout, finished with 18 points. McNabb, who had a pair of treys of her own, had 13 along with Heidi Regnier, who anchored the Richmond attack underneath the basket.

"Natalie's shot was not the first option, but she was wide open," Lay explained.

"I thought, 'please go in,'" Gambit said.

It was McNabb's job to set up the play.

"I just did not want to turn the ball over. If we missed a shot, it would have gone to overtime," McNabb, a junior, said. "I feel wonderful."

Regnier was ready for a possible rebound.

"It was very rough under the boards.

"Defense has been our biggest area of improvement. We ran our offense very well. I am proud of our team," Regnier said.

It did not look like it was going in, but it got nothing but net.

"We took a couple of good shots, but we could not get them to fall. They hit two treys when we were up 35-31. We backed off on them until they showed they could hit them," Somonauk coach Mike Hall said. "It was just one of those things."

A combination of things allowed 26-1 Richmond to advance to the Sweet Sixteen - at the Bobcats gym in Somonauk no less.

Somonauk lost a 5-point lead due to fouls. Jacqui Powers was hurt from time to time with a knee injury, but led the Bobcats with 12 points.

"They controlled the tempo. We wanted the score to be in the 60s; they wanted it in the 40s," Hall said.

Richmond came out firing in the first quarter, hitting 7-of-13 shots from the field. A McNabb free throw gave Richmond a 15-12 lead after one.

No need for such thoughts, coach. It was time to make plans to go west with a realistic shot at the Class A state finals in Bloomington.

Grass Lake School students learn 'Little House Lore'

The third and fourth grade students at Grass Lake School were immersed in a program presented by Lynn Urban of Racine, Wis. entitled "Little House Lore."

The children have been reading the books, written by Laura Ingalls Wilder, about her life as a pioneer girl in midwest America.

Ms. Urban talked about the life and the writings of Wilder. She came dressed in costume appropriate to the period. She shared parched corn, a treat enjoyed by the Ingalls' family. She shared hundreds of artifacts, each referenced to book and page. Literature came alive for the children at Grass Lake School.

Soil, water district honors representatives

The 1994 annual meeting of the LCSWCD was held on Feb. 11, at the College of Lake County. There was a strong turnout with 70 people in attendance. Victoria Ranney, vice president of Prairie Holdings Corporation, gave a slide presentation on the Prairie Crossing development on Route 45 and Casey Road. This development is part of a much larger land use plan, the Liberty Prairie Reserve, to preserve the special areas bounded by Rtes. 21, 137 and 120 (part of the Des Plaines River watershed.)

During the meeting, three awards were presented. Mike Mieszala presented Joanne True, district administrative coordinator, and Barbara Ellenwood, district secretary, with a plaque and check for their invaluable assistance in keeping the district office running smoothly during the absence of a Resource Conservationist on staff. Sharon Buckeridge awarded Dick Raftis, Farm Bureau manager, a tree of his choice from the annual tree sale to be planted on the Farm Bureau property for all the support the Farm Bureau provides the district.

Buckeridge also introduced the District's Associate Directors. Ron Riepe served the district this past year on the Personnel Committee and the Nominating Committee. John McNeill helped to bring Antioch back into the district. And Ginny Nelson will be helping the District get their newsletter started.

Strong support for the incumbents, Sharon Buckeridge and Mike Mieszala, resulted in their reelection. The third opening was filled by Mark Snow, who is interested in helping to preserve the beauty of Lake County. He brings to the district his experience in environmental law and its impact on business activities as well as his skills as a writer and speaker.

Island Lake homeowners oppose Agency vote, fear sludge dumping

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

A three and a half-year old organization of concerned homeowners that has resurfaced, with a new name, is questioning the Waterway Agency's fight to stay in operation.

On March 15, voters will have the chance to vote on whether or not to allow the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency to continue to exist.

POWER (Peoples Organization against Water and Environmental Ruin), a group of about 250 homeowners in five different subdivisions of Island Lake near the Fox River, are sending out flyers and asking people to vote "no" on the referendum.

President of POWER Steve Miehle, of the Porten Subdivision, said the group was formed when the Waterway Agency proposed a project to use a 40-acre parcel as a containment site for dumping sludge from planned dredging in the Fox River.

Because residents in the area are all on wells, concern has been mounting over the issue. Half of the land, is reportedly wetlands and is owned by the state.

LeeAnn Black, secretary of the group, said she is concerned for her family, that the sludge may be contaminated with possible toxins including metals and chemicals. Also, said Black, she is worried that the debris may be an invitation to bugs and rats, and it may eventually seep into the water table.

"Seven years ago they told us it was a done deal," said Black. "The agency told us it would boost our property values. Two people told us it would actually drop them 30 percent."

Karen Kabbes, executive director of the Waterway Agency, said sediment testing is being done by consultants for the state to assure residents concerns are being taken care of.

In fact, Kabbes said she would like to work on a project where the agency can actually sell sludge on the Ackerman Island containment site, because it is so good for contractors and other uses.

"We don't think there's a problem, but we want to make sure all concerns are addressed," said Kabbes.

The executive director explained that the Porten Rd. Subdivision Containment Site project is being paid for by IDOT, and no monies are coming from the Waterway Agency whatsoever.

Kabbes agrees the parcel would not be her first choice, if there was anything else to choose from. "That site is the only option. We're quickly trying to find other alternatives, but at this point in time, based on the current rules, our hands are tied."

The 7-acre Ackerman Island site near Grass Lake is really not quite the same as the proposed containment/levy on Porten Rd., explained Kabbes. One of the differences is that the Porten project will pipe in and pipe sludge out of the site.

Miehle said he is surprisingly not totally against the Waterway Agency, and actually has some admiration for Kabbes and Chairman William C. Dam.

But nonetheless he said he must take concern for his little portion of the peninsula where everyone forgets people live there.

"If they want to come up with an alternative, then our hands are out to them," said Miehle. "We're not against the dam (containment site) going in, but we have to prove it's safe," added the president.

Voters question juvenile detention funding

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

While few dispute the need to expand the Lake County juvenile facility and staff, the funding plan has been attacked at informational meetings about the referendum.

On March 15, voters will be asked whether or not the extension limitation under the Property Tax Extension Limitation Act for the County of Lake be increased from 2.7 percent to 8.7 percent. The money generated by this increase has been promised, by County Board resolution, to be used for the detention center.

At a recent informational meeting in Antioch, members of the audience alleged that once the tax cap is removed, it is permanent.

This information is not exactly true. According to the Illinois Municipal League (IML) while the tax cap (5 percent or Consumer Price Index (CPI), whichever is lower) will return the following levy year after the referendum, the aggregate base will be increased.

The following year, the tax cap is applied to the new aggregate extension base, thereby permitting the tax increase to "spill" over into subsequent years. The law covering referendums to increase the extension limitation can be found in Chapter 35 of the Illinois Compiled Statutes Section 245.

Taxpayers have also questioned why the new center cannot be funded by a bond issue, which would be self-limiting in duration. The problem with a bond issue is that the bulk of the funds needed for the center are operating costs, not capital (building) expenses.

Juvenile Judge Margaret Mullen has been making the rounds in an attempt to educate voters about the need for an expanded center and programs.

Mullen tells how juveniles are being released from the current detention facility in alarming numbers to make room for those who have committed more serious crimes because the current facility has the capacity of only 18 beds.

"We do not double bunk," explained Mullen. "When we are three kids over, three kids have to go. I have to pick the ones to go."

While the Lake County Board, by resolution, has promised to use the money for the proposal, there has been some concern that a newly seated Lake County Board could not be bound by a prior board's resolution.

Sheriffs race heats up, sparks fly

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The fight for the Republican spot on the ballot for Lake County Sheriff is now moving at a fever pitch. Incumbent Clinton Grinnell called a press conference last week accusing his opposition, Ed Sindles of telling lies. While Sindles rebuttal press conference is planned for Friday, the sparks flew at a debate of the candidates at Antioch Village Hall.

The League of Women's Voters and Lakeland Newspapers sponsored the Monday night debate, and the room was filled to capacity. Democratic candidate, Richard Jablonski was permitted to give an opening statement, although he did not participate in the debate because he is running unopposed.

"You can make up your own minds about me," Jablonski told the audience. "Examine my record. I am not a quitter. I am not afraid to take a stand."

"I would run the department without political interference," Jablonski continued. "As sheriff, I will work for you and I will be accountable to you."

Next, it was Sindles turn. Sindles hammered on the organizational problems within the department.

"We need to go out and seek the problems not sit around and wait to hear about them," said Sindles. "I am asking you to tell me to take the sheriffs department into the '90s."

Grinnell focused on Sindles lack of experience and his successes within the department.

"Now is not the time for inexperience," said Grinnell. "I believe strongly I am the best qualified. I am pleased to report that crime in Lake County has dropped 12 percent. I am very proud of this."

After the speeches, the audience had an opportunity to present questions to the candidates.

Right out of the box, Sindles was asked how he planned to serve warrants seven days a week, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

"It is a matter of staggering the schedule and utilizing the personnel," explained Sindles. See SHERIFF page B5

Conservation agencies endorse Waterway

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Like a magnet, the Waterway Management Agency is adopting supporters in nearly every town representatives visit.

The newest entities on the list of backers who say 'yes' to the question of whether to keep the Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency in existence, are the Illinois Department of Conservation and the Chicago Metro Wetland Office, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Waterway Agency Executive Director Karen Kabbes said they were told of the news last week after receiving letters.

Brent Manning, director of the State Department of Conservation said with his support he hopes "the upcoming March referendum will result in a strong endorsement of the Agency's continued existence."

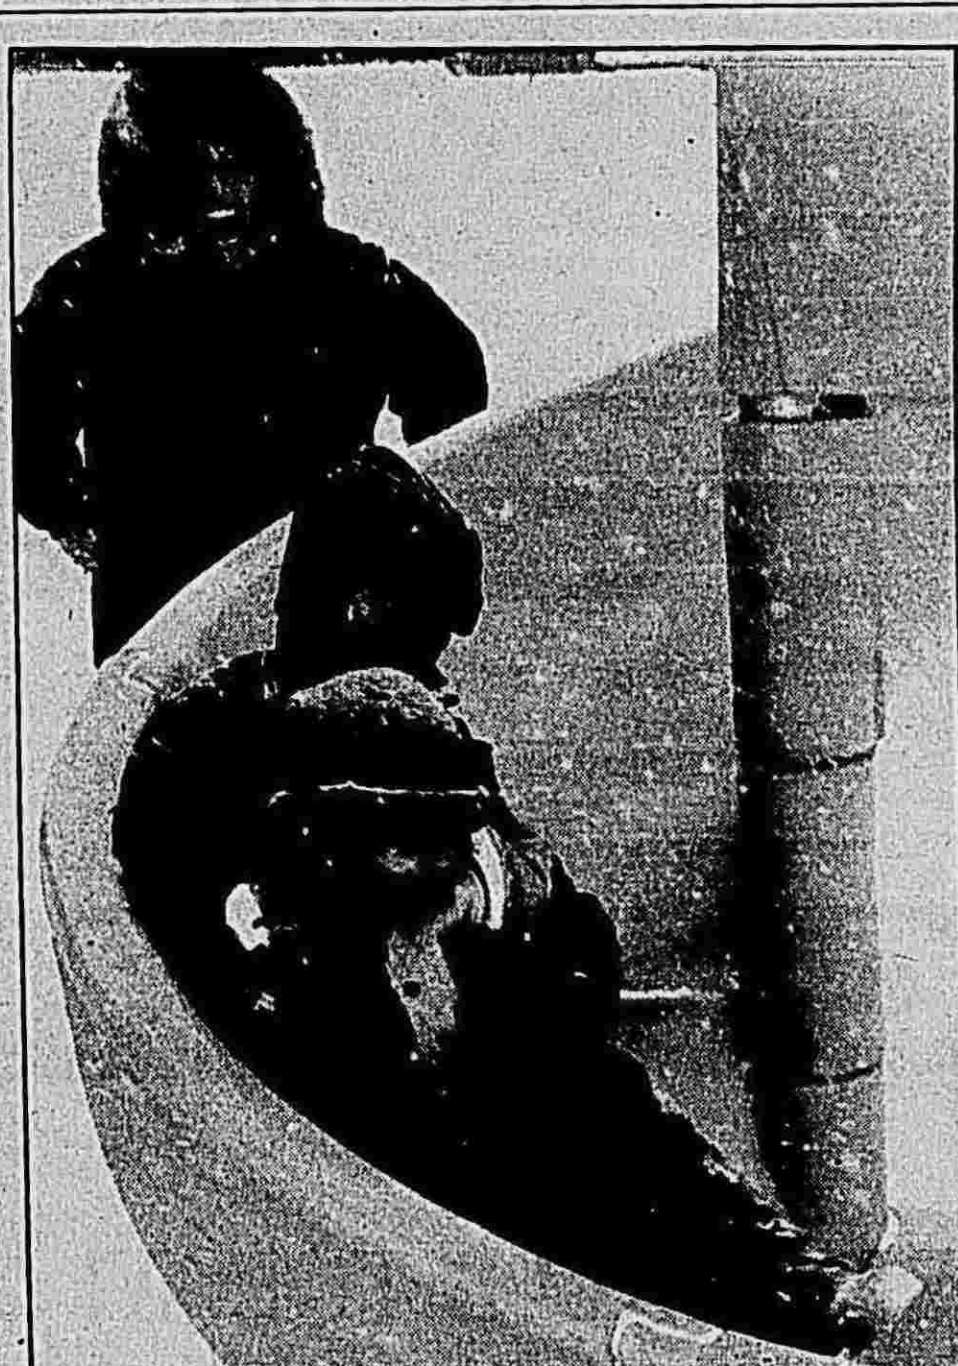

"The Waterway Management Agency provides a much needed central focus for addressing the many issues and opportunities associated with the Fox River Chain O' Lakes," Manning said.

Dr. Benjamin Tuggle of the U.S. Department of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service wrote, "I believed the continuation of the (Waterway Agency) is important if we are to proceed with important conservation activities on the waterway."

"Although conservation is not a specific mandate of your agency, we have seen a heightened sensitivity to environmental problems and concerns under your leadership and that of Executive Director Karen Kabbes. Projects such as the creation of wetlands using dredged material represent the kind of forward thinking that will be necessary to provide a reasonable balance between human use of the waterway and natural resource values. I believe your agency is uniquely capable of providing local leadership on conservation issues in this area," added Dr. Tuggle.

March 15 will be the day to voice opinions whether interested in keeping the agency alive or letting the 10-year sunset clause take over.

AT A GLANCE

Route 45 to be widened

MUNDELEIN—The Illinois Department of Transportation, is expected to begin construction on Route 45 in Mundelein as soon as the weather makes that possible. Two lanes will be closed as crews work on the other two; then the process will be reversed. The pavement from Woodlawn Dr. to Hawley St. will be widened from 40 to 55 feet, with an 11-foot median/turning lane. Left turn lanes will be installed at several intersections and new traffic signals with left-turn arrows will be installed at Courtland and Division streets. The Village of Mundelein must pay 95 percent of the cost of the emergency vehicle preemption system which amounts to $13,110.

Learn about the solar eclipse

WAUCONDA—Any astronomical buff knows the next eclipse of the sun will occur on May 10, but for those not in-the-know, the Lake County Astronomical Society is ready to answer all questions. The society's next meeting will take place at 7 p.m. March 18 at the Lake County Museum near Wauconda on Route 176 west of Fairfield Road. If the weather is clear, an observing session with telescopes will be open to the public after the meeting at around 9 p.m. The main discussion at the meeting will center around explaining how to observe the upcoming eclipse. Bert Stevens, a well-experienced observer of solar eclipses, will be the guest speaker. Stevens has traveled widely to study total eclipses of the sun.

Information network

MUNDELEIN—Mundelein Police Chief Raymond Rose has introduced a program in Lake County to identify juvenile offenders. The Serious Habitual Offender Comprehensive Action Program will allow schools, police and social service agencies to share information on troubled youth. When all the details have been worked out, Rose said Judge Margaret Mullen of the Lake County Juvenile Court System will issue a court order allowing the exchange of information.

118 combines committees

WAUCONDA—In order to concentrate their efforts, make scheduling meetings less confusing and allow for more community participation, the Wauconda Unit District 118 board members have moved to consolidate five standing committees into two committees and one committee of the whole. The new restructuring includes the educational process and policy committee and the operations, maintenance and finance committee, with the former long range planning committee now one with the entire board's approval. Also, meetings will be scheduled to meet once a month on a Thursday, instead of different dates and times for each meeting.

Township hall suffers

FOX LAKE—Damage at the Grant Township Hall from sub-zero temperatures and sudden thaws has been nothing but a nuisance for Supervisor Gordy Kiesgen and co-workers. First the pipes froze solid and then electrical problems became apparent in the old building. Drains were clogged and then the roof leaked—all over the supervisor's and the assessor's offices, as well as other parts of the building. Finally the ceiling in Kiesgen's office came tumbling down, and so did his patience.

Residents want a pool

LAKE ZURICH—Unofficial results of a village survey show a majority of residents favor construction of a community pool. John Foens, director of recreation, said a whopping 73 percent of the 1,300 surveys received were in favor of the pool, with the remainder citing increased taxes and the proximity to the lake as reasons why the pool should not be built. An outdoor pool could cost between $2 million and $2.5 million, while an indoor pool could cost up to $3 million. Final survey results will be presented to the board of trustees at an upcoming meeting.

Jablonski cleared of charges

ROUND LAKE BEACH—State's Attorney Michael Waller said an investigation by his office into allegations that Police Chief Richard Jablonski had violated rights of individuals under arrest were unsubstantiated. The office has cleared Jablonski any criminal charges and is ending its investigation of allegations made by the Fraternal Order of Police in Round Lake Beach. Jablonski had been on paid leave until the matter could be investigated. The union had alleged Jablonski had failed to give arrestees their Miranda rights.

Village gets $139,000 grant

LAKE VILLA—Lake Villa is to receive $139,000 in funds to help construct a Metra Commuter station and parking lot. The funds come from Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) Operation Green Light funds. The money is based on the amount of riders each area is expected to have. Metra expects about 50 riders in the area and village officials consider the number low because both Lake Villa and Lindenhurst residents will use the site.

Village working on cable deal

LINDENHURST—Village officials are trying to work out a cable franchise deal that is more beneficial than the last agreement with US Cable. The contract with US Cable expires in 1996. The village officials would prefer greater control of services but must follow FCC regulations regarding service and rates. The village has filed to become its regulating agency but has to follow FCC guidelines. The board will discuss the issue further before deciding to enter into contract negotiations with US Cable.

SAVE YOUR FAMILY TIME AND MONEY

Do you know what "probate" is? It is the court process by which debts are paid and assets are distributed to heirs.

When you consider the cost of a will and the fees involved in probate, as compared to setting up a living trust, the trust is a much more reasonable choice. It saves not only money, but time. Your heirs will not have to wait six, nine, or twelve months to receive what you have left them.

In Illinois, probate is required when the assets total over $50,000. The probate process can be quite costly, reducing the amount of assets that heirs receive. Attorney's fees, court costs and executor's fees can reduce assets that go to the heirs by as much as 10%. There is also a time delay, because the minimum amount of time that an estate would be tied up in probate court in Illinois is six months, but normally probate takes nine to twelve months, and sometimes longer.

What can you do now so that your loved ones can avoid the costly and frustrating probate process? You can attend a FREE ESTATE PLANNING SEMINAR and learn how a living trust can work for your family. A living trust can be defined in simple terms as a will substitute, one that allows your heirs to avoid meeting a probate judge. As the trustee (financial manager) of your trust, you can continue to do the same things you did before the trust existed, such as buy, sell, or give away the trusts' assets. You set up your living trust according to your desires. You are in complete control.

Deputies speak out Sheriff

regarding issues

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

An unnamed Sheriff's department deputy confirmed some of the problems in the department discussed at the debate.

Regarding the warrants division, one officer said, "They don't go out and pick up people on warrants. They will not actively look for them because the jail is crowded."

The officer agreed that the current district plan is difficult to manage. "DUI's are a big problem. It takes three hours away from your partner. If you are way out there, you have to do a field sobriety test, drive to Waukegan, administer a breathalyzer, and all the rest," explained the deputy. "You form a bond with your partner and you hate to leave him out there alone. We try to watch each other's backs. You can't do that when you are not there."

"I feel sorry for the highway patrol," he said. "It is going to take someone getting hurt before changes are made."

"For example, the day after Thanksgiving, the department sent the officers from Court Security home because the courts were closed. They could have sent them out to serve warrants. People deserve us to be working for them 24 hours a day, 7 days a week."

Grinnell, in rebuttal, explained the problem of outstanding warrants. "We get 450 warrants a month as well as 200 to 250 orders of protection. Some warrants date back to 1979," explained Grinnell. "The bottom line, we do not have 23 cars to put these guys (Court security) to work."

Grinnell, when asked about community policing, said he felt it was a good problem but emphasized the difficulty he faces as a result of the manpower shortage on the highway patrol. "We still have a manpower crunch on the highway patrol," said Grinnell. "Because of the distances they travel and the volume of calls, they become call takers. You have to have the manpower to do it (Community policing).

Sindles agreed that the community policing program is valid and he also agreed the highway department had manpower problems. "Our manpower is very strained. The county is divided into basically four quadrants dating back to the '60s," Sindles said. "There is a lot of time spent traveling between calls. But, if you took the same 10 people and instead of a centralized area you split the area into 10 districts, 15 to 20 minutes would be saved on each call. This would allow for community policing."

Grinnell insisted he had no plans for retirement despite press to the contrary. "I have no intention of leaving in two years," he said. "Bottom line, I am committed to a four-year term."

Sindles emphasized the need for reorganization within the department. "The Sheriff's department does not need to work Monday through Fridays. Detectives do not work weekends. We do not serve orders of protection after 4:30 p.m. on Fridays," said Sindles. "We need rearrangement of manpower. They can work weekends and nights."

In closing, Grinnell said, "My opponent has said a lot of things without substance tonight. He will not have the resources to do it."

Vote water agency: right thing to do

Rare, indeed, is the opportunity for voters to pass judgment on a governmental issue without fear of getting zapped for higher taxes.

But that's exactly the case March 15 when electors living in Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Grant Township will hold in their hands the future of the Chain O' Lakes/Fox River Management Agency.

Along with voters in McHenry County residing on the west bank of the Fox River, water district residents will be asked in a binding referendum whether the agency should be continued. Without voter support, the agency will die Dec. 31, 1994, due to a sunset provision in the law.

This is a non-tax issue. Elected directors serve without pay. The water agency operates with income generated by user fees, grants, and believe it or not, a few donations. Total income is about $750,000 with not a red cent coming from taxes. Boaters, wherever they live, buy stickers which gives them permission to boat on the Chain or Fox River.

In the almost 10 years of its life, the water district has shown itself to be the only public agency that effectively can manage boating safety, enhance water quality and remove silt that slowly is filling in the Chain's 64,000 acres.

Strong support for continuing the agency has been voiced by elected officials and local business organizations. District voters in Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Grant Township and McHenry County can vote to keep the agency in business with the comfort that they are doing the right thing. We heartily recommend a yes vote March 15 to continue the water management agency.

Gov race tops Demo primary

With their county ticket neatly packaged devoid of contests, Democratic partisans in Lake County have only state offices to whet their competitive appetites. The Illinois state Democratic primary is uncharacteristically robust.

Three vastly different candidates are contesting for the nomination for governor and a chance to battle it out with Republican incumbent Gov. Jim Edgar in November. Democrats can't complain about not having a choice for governor.

Netsch victory would spark job tax debate

State Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch is a stereotypical liberal Democrat, a veteran of General Assembly political warfare as a former state senator and bright as a shiny new silver dollar. Cook County Board Chairman Richard Phelan is a millionaire lawyer whose approach to government begins and ends with a blank checkbook. Picture a Notre Dame graduate who is pro-abortion and you get a quick idea about Phelan's philosophy of holding public office. Atty. Gen. Roland Burris is a consummate party insider, the first black to hold state office when elected comptroller and a living, breathing example that a poor youth from downstate can live the American dream by doing the right things to get along.

Burris has conducted a lack-luster campaign that has been disappointing to even his most ardent supporters. Burris may be the Al Dixon of 1994, meaning that a popular party leader has run into a female Waterloo a la Carol Mosely Braun. Netsch is closing fast in the three-way race, mostly on the basis of clever, hard-hitting television commercials. Netsch is displaying both savvy and political courage by advocating an income tax increase to fund education.

Phelan will go as far as his campaign war chest will take him, which might not be much more than Cook County where he is well known and the collar counties. Without a doubt, Netsch will give Edgar the most trouble in the general election because of her knowledge and candor on fiscal matters and the appeal to many voters of putting the first woman in the governor's mansion. A Netsch victory in the primary likely will turn the governor's race into a referendum on a state income tax hike and, hopefully, property tax relief.

With the exception of state Treasurer Patrick Quinn who is running for secretary of state, Lake County Democrats will have to refer to their scorecards for information on other contestants in the state primary. There are a lot of names on the ballot unfamiliar to Democrats who live north of Lake-Cook Rd. Quinn is opposed by State Sen. Denny Jacobs of East Moline whose only hope is that party regulars have had enough of Quinn, the populist opportunist.

—Viewpoint— Rating systems more bubba bait

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

It's a bit of a stretch to believe that parents who leave their kids home alone or permit them to starve in an unheated flat are going to embrace new industry standards and the V-chip to curb TV violence.

Until more is done about wilfully neglectful parents and the 60's generation flower children who now are permissive moms and dads, it's difficult to get stirred up about murder and mayhem on the boob tube, the protestations of the mighty protector, Sen. Paul Simon (D-Ill.) notwithstanding.

Despite all his huffing and puffing about violent programming, Simon turned out to be easy once the cable and broadcast moguls got their act together. The conscience of the nation from downstate Illinois dropped plans to legislate restrictions of violent shows.

The V-chip is an intriguing invention. It is a device that would permit parents to block out any program rated violent. Great. Now parents will have to master V-chip technology when over half of them can't even operate their VCR's. Need the kids to show'em how.

I can hear it now. "Junior, there's bad stuff on TV. Show mommy and daddy how to zap violence with our new V-chip."

With present and future parents weened on countless hours of cartoon violence and the goulshness of mindless MTV, curbing television violence might be wasted effort.

Besides, sports and news shows likely will not be rated. Where is there more violence displayed than on so-called television news?

Caring parents already know how to deal with TV violence. It's called the Manual Turn Off device. Rating systems are for bubbas.

Can't climb a tree

Editor:

As I struggled to get State Senator Pete Fitzgerald's huge, glossy campaign piece out of my mailbox, I opened it to read that the reason he wants to be a congressman is for the future of his small son.

He might start by eliminating the consumptive use of unrecyclable paper that his two foot by one foot brochure was or his son will not have a tree to climb in the future.

Resolve POW/ MIA issue

Editor:

Unwritten, unspoken, but unbreakable, the Contract of the Battlefield: You will leave no one dead or alive in the hands of the enemy.

Our President and approved by Congress, lifted the 30 year old trade embargo of Vietnam. It was promised there would be a full accounting. This will only delay all the hard work done by very few veterans. We must continue to do all we can to resolve this issue.

Veterans, all of you, now is the time to let these officials know. You served honorably under their leadership. You want what is right. You went through hell fighting for freedom. There must be a full accounting of our POW/MIAs now.

Make a commitment today. Stand up, make a difference. Get everything that was promised you for all the sacrifices you made.

Stop single mom subsidies

Editor:

Those who are wringing their hands over what to do and who to blame concerning the recent incident involving 19 children found in a dirty, crowded, dilapidated inner city apartment would do well to read an article published in the Wall Street Journal on Oct. 29, 1993 by Charles Murray entitled, "The Coming White Underclass."

In his article, Mr. Murray underscores the problem of illegitimacy for both blacks and whites and the effect it is having on crime, drugs, poverty, illiteracy, welfare and homelessness. Perhaps his offered solutions are so simplistic, hardly anyone has ever thought of implementing them.

Mr. Murray's basic premise is two fold. Bringing a child into the world when one is not emotionally or financially prepared to be a parent is wrong. Secondly, the child deserves society's support while the parent does not.

The remedies to the problem, according to Mr. Murray, center around restoring marital rewards and penalties most of which existed as recently as the 1960's and streamlining adoption. End all government economic support for single mothers. The people living in the Chicago apartment were receiving $4,500 monthly in government support yet their children were competing for a chicken bone for food with the dog. Mr. Murray would not support this at all, but instead would have support come from other family members, boyfriends, neighbors, churches or philanthropies.

If such support was not forthcoming the state could utilize laws already on the books to remove those children from these neglectful single parents. Further, Mr. Murray rightly favors lifting current restrictions on interracial adoption, easing age limitations for adoptive parents and making all adoptions irrevocable. For those children who would not be adopted, he proposes spending lavishly on orphanages with money saved from the welfare system.

Finally, Mr. Murray strongly urges tax reform in the way of tax credits for marriage and children along with making marriage once again the sole legal mode for parental rights and responsibilities.

COMMENTARY

Quality education gives opportunity for success

Antioch High School is fortunate to have a vast number of wonderful, intelligent and respectful students. The overwhelming majority of our teenagers come to school with the intention of getting a good education which will form the foundation for the rest of their lives. They give their best effort and cooperate with the educational system. They are young men and women of whom we can be proud.

Unfortunately, those young people are now finding themselves caught in the middle of a tax issue. This issue could determine whether they keep pace with those against whom they will be competing for jobs and college admissions, or if they are destined to fall hopelessly behind. We have already seen the budget shortfall cost our students in the areas of computers and other educational equipment that is designed to facilitate learning, enrich the academic environment, and put technology into young people's hands that they will be expected to use and understand if they are to be successful in the twenty-first century.

In one year's time we have witnessed a reduction in teachers, causing class sizes to swell, in some cases reaching numbers of 32 or more students in pivotal courses. This obviously reduces the amount of time teachers can provide for individual instruction, and limits the amount of hands-on time that students can experience, considering the limited number of resources within the school setting. Furthermore, the district has been forced to release hall supervisors and lay personnel, in turn passing their duties on to the instructional staff. This further takes away from time that teachers used to spend in one-on-one and small group tutoring with students who either needed additional help to meet the requirements of a given course, or with those who wished to gain a deeper understanding of the material and work beyond the limits of the assigned course work.

Unfortunately, one very underrated area that has fallen to the current economic situation is that of athletics. All freshman sports, B level sports, and Junior Varsity sports were eliminated as of the 1993-94 school year. Athletics provide much more than games to the total educational picture. They give students an outlet for physical expression and an opportunity to learn to function as part of a group. Through athletics students can learn goal-setting as well as the level of commitment required to be successful. Students also learn to deal with failure, accepting those things that they cannot change, while learning to adjust those that they can. In one short athletic season, a student can gain a lifetime's worth of experiences. Sadly, this year literally hundreds of young people are being denied the opportunity to participate in organized, supervised activities. The sport of football alone normally accommodates between 60 and 70 freshmen. This year, with no freshman team, the majority were left to their own resources to find things to do in less supervised, less structured activities.

The young people of the greater Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst communities are wonderfully special and unique individuals, and they are now crying out for our help. They desperately need that help if they are to realize their full potential within an extremely competitive academic and employment market place. Passage of this referendum is the only chance these young men and women have to keep pace with their competition. —by MICHAEL GORDY

Editor's note: Gordy is an English and journalism teacher at Antioch High School.

PARTY LINES

Terry's losing bid recalled by Terry

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

Remember David Terry, the Ryerson Woods "deer lady" whose favorite color is pink?

Terry, the Prairie View political activist who ran an expensive and unsuccessful campaign for the Lake County Board two years ago, has surfaced as a certified, card-carrying member of the Pam Newton Fan Club. David also is saying nice things these days about Colin McRae.

When Terry ran in 1992, both Newton and McRae were in her gun sights. Today she admits she was wrong on both counts. A Terry letter to Newton was "leaked" to Party Lines:

"In the year that you have served Dist. 18, I can actually say that for the first time in 12 years my concerns were not only listened to and addressed, but you took action regarding these issues...Unlike many other elected officials, Pam, you have been very accessible by giving our your home phone....

"I've watched you place local people on various committees which include the zoning board of appeals, and the fire district. I appreciate your very progressive ideas for the preservation of Main Street in Prairie View, and your stand against the increased traffic and safety hazard Stevenson High School would have with the construction on Hotz Rd."

David vows not to run again for public office—ever—after her loss to Newton. Terry admits, though, that the campaign was fun. The infamous billboard on Milwaukee Ave. in florescent pink will never be forgotten.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Fitzgerald no 'environmentalist'

Editor:

I received some mail the other day from Peter Fitzgerald which tried to imply that he was going to be an "environmental" congressman.

What a joke! The guy has sent enough direct mail and littered the highways with enough signs to kill an entire forest! Maybe that's what Fitzgerald meant when he said he was for "open space."

Juvenile Center needed but is tax extension?

Editor:

Few informed people would argue that the Lake County Detention Center is in need of additional funding. The indicated $6.5 million needed for new buildings seems to be a reasonable request. Certainly additional staff and operations funding must also be considered. The question is whether a permanent increase in the entire Lake County tax rate extension from 2.7 percent to 8.7 percent is justified for this single purpose.

Lake County officials have suggested this proposal would add $12 per year to the tax on a $150,000 home. Critics have suggested a figure of $18 is more realistic. Both should be put in proper perspective.

Consider the successful land acquisition referendum passed by the Lake County Forest Preserve District. That tax increase was for $30 million and costs the $150,000 home owner a $6.50 per year. Using the $12 figure Lake County would realize an increase in tax revenue of $55.6 million during the duration of the Forest Preserve bonds. This would swell to over $83.3 million using the $18 figure. The obvious question is why Lake County officials would seek a tax increase of somewhere between $55 and $83 million for a $6.6 million requirement.

Voters will recall the Forest Preserve referendum which clearly indicated the tax increase was specifically for land acquisition. The proposed Lake County increase makes no mention of how the funds will be used. That alone should give voters sufficient reason to question the validity of this request. Lake County Officials have labeled this move as "Raising Our Cap For Youth." Instead this is another case of trying to pull the wool over voters eyes.

Voters should turn this flawed request away and let Lake County officials return with an honest request (perhaps a building bond referendum) for the specific improvement of the Juvenile Detention Center.

Dist. 46 referenda is about choice

Editor:

The Dist. 46 referenda on the ballot March 15 are about choice. The process that evolved in putting these referendum questions on the ballot was sound and displayed foresight. Obviously no one wants to pay additional taxes, but the alternative facing our rapidly growing community should not be acceptable to anyone who has taken the time to fully review the issues involved.

While we may try to point fingers at the state for reducing funding or builders for the lack of sufficient developer fees, we are just deluding ourselves if we think we can change either in any reasonable time. The primary source for school funding is real estate. And despite the continual attempts by the few vocal critics in the community to find waste in the district budget, none has been found, nor has any magic solution been forthcoming.

Even with the increases asked, there will be sacrifices and changes as the impact of growth continues. The interim grade level center concept is one of these changes. It is not being done to copy some trendy educational movement but to save costs, equalize class sizes and lessen the direct educational impact of rapid growth on our children. Concerned parents need to thoroughly study this change and ask questions to understand the grade level centers rationale. It appears to make sense. More importantly, let's not allow our emotions or biases to alter our decisions on the referendum questions simply due to the change to the grade level center concept.

It is my opinion that the Dist. 46 referenda are based on sound logic and deserve yes votes.

Martin Mailing Machine is at it

Editor:

Well, I see that the Martin Mailing Machine is at it again. Do you remember all the I-Rate circulars you received before the election last November? Perhaps the general public doesn't realize that Jack Martin has his own business mailroom set-up, computer capability to generate endless voter labels, and apparently unlimited money to fill our mailboxes with stuff he wants us to receive. In the past two days I've received the first two of I-wonder-how-many pieces of mail promoting Martin Paulson. Paulson is a political appointee as head of the county department responsible for inspecting the type of business he owns. He tried running for township assessor and lost. Now he's trying for elective office again by opposing Carol Calabrese for county board member from the 15th district.

Carol can probably afford one independent mailing to the voters because she refuses the backing of people like Jack Martin. However, she has the support of those of us who respect her independence from the machine. We are aware of Carol's advocacy of green space and bike paths before they became trendy enough to sell a forest preserve referendum and know that she has a long history of working at the township and county levels on many community projects. Carol is accessible and responsive and works full-time for her constituents.

I hope voters who read newspaper letters like this are very selective about reading the repetitive political "literature" saturating their mailboxes and know where to file it.

Big tax check? Check employee's withholding form

Giving the IRS more than you have to? Check your W-4. The information you give your employer on your Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," helps determine the amount of tax that is withheld from your pay. It could mean the difference between writing Uncle Sam a large check, a small one, or none at all when you file your tax return.

To know if your tax check will be the right size, consider your personal and financial situations. Changes in either of these, and of course in the tax law, could affect withholding.

Buying a new home or incurring a large medical expense may enable you to claim additional itemized deductions. Marrying or divorcing changes your filing status and standard deduction. You may increase or decrease your earned income by getting a second job, or if your spouse begins work, gets a second job, or one of you lose a job. Your non-wage income can also increase or decrease. Non-wage income may be money from interest, dividends, prizes, or alimony. Any of these events could affect how much is withheld from your paycheck and, subsequently, how much is owed or refunded by April 15.

Each allowance claimed on the Form W-4 decreases the amount of tax withheld. There is no limit to the number of legitimate allowances a taxpayer can claim, but if it is more than ten, the employer must send a copy of the W-4 to the IRS. The IRS may ask the employee to justify the claims. An employee may be exempt from withholding (have no taxes withheld) if he or she earns less than $200 per week, received a refund of all income taxes withheld last year, and expects all taxes withheld to be refunded again this year. Exemption is very different from claiming zero allowances which tells the employer to withhold the maximum amount of tax from the employee's paycheck, based on the withholding table for the employee's tax bracket.

Give your completed Form W-4 to your employer and don't think about it again until your personal and/or financial status changes. The W-4 is valid until you fill out another one with one exception: If you claim the exemption from withholding, you must fill out a new W-4 each year you are eligible for the exemption.

Call the IRS Tele-Tax line, 1(800)829-4477, to hear recorded information on the W-4.

Can't pay taxes? File anyway

If you can't pay your taxes, you should still file your tax return on time. The IRS says this way you will save money because you won't have to pay a penalty for filing late.

You should send as much money as you can with your tax return and include a letter requesting a payment plan. Give the amounts you can pay and the dates you can pay them.

The IRS may allow you to follow the installments you've requested or will work out other options with you.

One of the worst things to do is not filing a tax return at all. That could add a lot more to your taxes.

Joe America learns smart way to take your lumps

Roch Tranel

We are not talking about the lumps of sugar you put in your coffee, but rather the lump sum you get from your employers' retirement savings plan when you leave the company. There was a time when Joe America went to work for a company and worked their for his entire career. At retirement Joe was rewarded with a monthly pension that he could live from the rest of his life. Times have changed, the new Joe America does not stay at one company for his entire career and even if he did very few companies offer a monthly retirement pension. Instead, they offer a retirement savings plan where the employee can make contributions deducted directly from their paycheck. If the employers chooses they also can make contributions into the employee's account. This put the burden on the employee to save for retirement, not the employer.

There are many questions that arise when the "new Joe America" leaves his old company and joins another company to climb the corporate ladder even higher. Joe America's retirement savings plan is portable, meaning he can take it with him. The question is, what does he do with it? What are his options?

Following is one scenario on how Joe America handled his lump sum.

Joe America, age 35, an engineer who has accepted a new job. He has been in his current employers retirement plan for seven years and had $25,000 in his retirement plan. Let's listen to his conversation with his financial planner.

Financial planner: "What do you want to do, Joe America—take the money now or invest for later and defer taxes?"

Joe America: "Well, I sure could use a new car. But, I know the taxes and penalties would be pretty stiff if I took the money now. So I think I want to put off paying taxes as long as possible and accumulate as much money as I can."

Financial planner: "That makes a lot of sense. A guy your age who decides to take the money and run could lose nearly half of it to taxes and penalties. You should arrange to have your employer transfer your retirement plan assets directly into a rollover IRA. By doing this you will avoid any taxes and penalties."

Joe America: "Any ideas where I might want to invest that IRA?"

Financial planner: "Sure. Since your main goal is to use this money for retirement, you should consider owning some good U.S. companies. Most people are afraid to own companies because they don't understand them or just don't have the time to do the research.

I suggest you hire a professional money manager that already manages millions maybe even billions of other peoples retirement money. Someone that does this full time and has a good track record. I always like to see someone that has been around for many years, maybe as many as 60 to 70 years.

Of course, what I am suggesting is that you use a high quality growth mutual fund. This is the only vehicle that will keep pace with inflation so you can buy the things you need and want in retirement."

Joe America: "I probably won't retire for another 30 years. Will my rollover IRA be worth a hill of beans then?"

Financial planner: "I can't be sure what'll happen in the future. But I can certainly tell you what's happened in the past."

There are detailed records of the stock market all the way back to 1926, and since then stocks have returned an average of around 10 percent a year.

Keep in mind that's an average; some years have been up, some have been down. But if your IRA grows at that pace, by the time you hit age 65 your $25,000 will be worth more than $400,000."

Joe America: "I guess with that in mind it'll be worth waiting another year or two for a new car."—by ROCH TRANEL, Money Concepts, Libertyville

Chemist tells how chemicals surround us and improve life

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

In today's culture, the word 'chemical' often conjures up fear and negative images. Yet, some of the biggest man-made miracles involve chemicals.

Peter Heid, a chemist and participant in the VIP (Volunteer in Public Outreach) program sponsored by the American Chemical Society, wants to teach the public that chemicals are not bad.

"The purpose of the program is to let the public know what chemistry is about. It really is a part of their lives. We only hear about the bad part, but there are many advances in chemistry that make our life possible," said Heid.

Heid will present 'You and Chemistry,' a demonstration of some of the wonders of chemistry at 1 p.m., Sunday, March 6, at the Lake County Museum, in Wauconda. Call 526-7878 to register.

Heid will talk about how chemicals are all around us and how they affect us. "Food is actually a chemical. A crayon is a chemical. I can paint a pretty picture with a crayon or I can scribble on the wall," said Heid.

Part of Heid's presentation is to show a chemical reaction, which occurs when two or more chemicals are put together. He then will suggest some safe experiments for children to try at home with adult supervision. Heid also outlines safety procedures for dealing with some common chemical hazards.

Heid stumbled upon the VIP program when he was asked to talk to his son's kindergarten class about being a chemist. Heid wrote to the American Chemical Society for information, which he received, as well as a suggestion to get involved in the VIP program.

Since then, Heid has brought chemistry into every classroom at Santa Maria del Poppolo School. He also brought the demonstration to the Fremont Public Library.

Heid's interest in chemistry began as a high school student in Erie, Pa. with a chemistry teacher who was dubbed, "Prof."

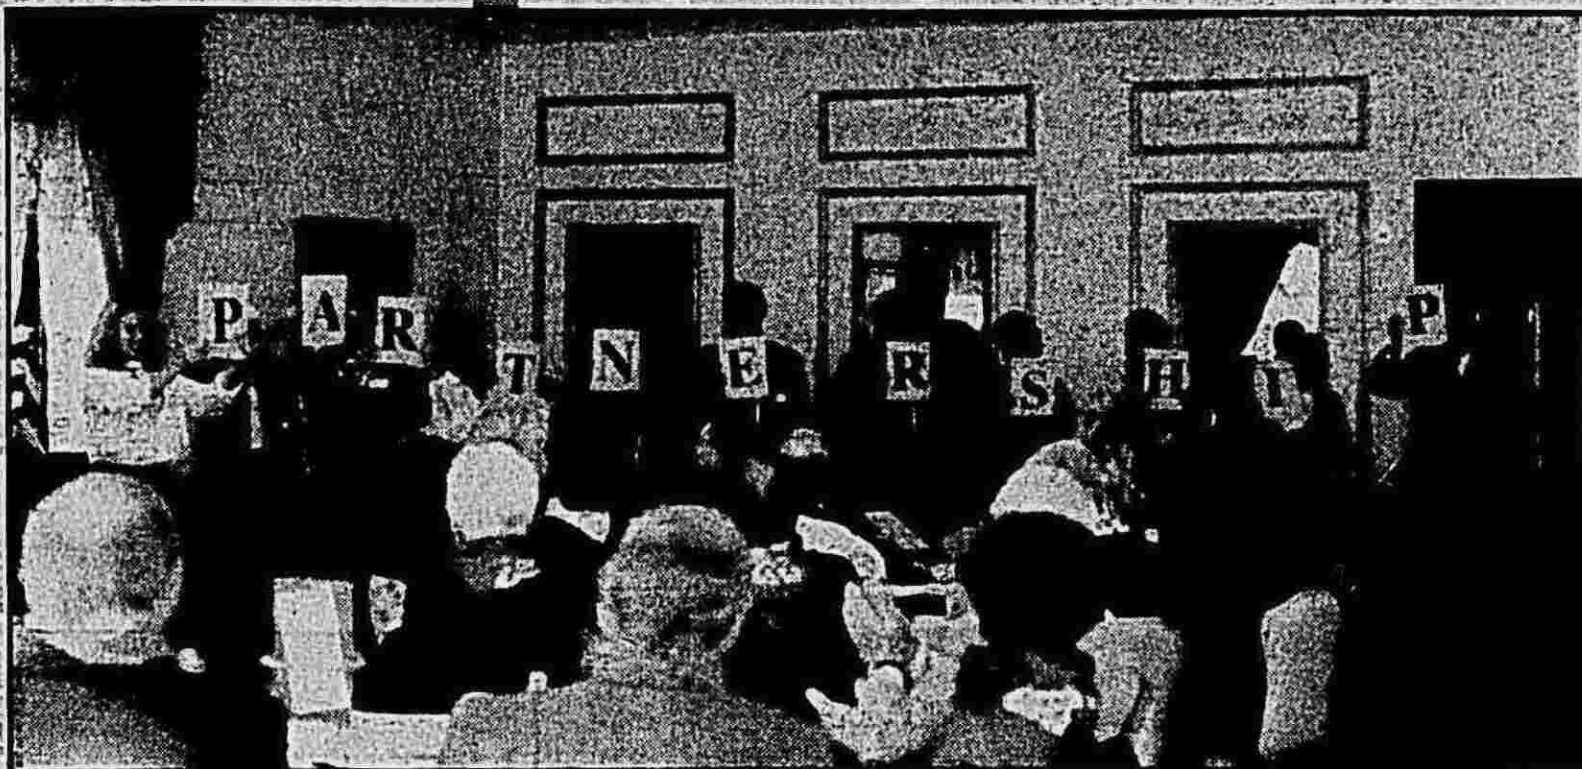

"He took me under his wing. He had a tremendous love of chemistry and he shared it with me," said Heid.

Fighting Back works to unite communities

Editor In Chief

A youngster whose mother has sought haven in the Safe Place Shelter finds a new friend at the Warren Township Senior Center. Across town, a group of high school students is meets to discuss ways to prevent teens from using drugs and alcohol. In another part of the county, a group of parents is meets to learn more effective parenting skills.

All of these programs are funded through an organization which has its roots as a citizens support group and is making a difference in Lake County, by creating a unified effort to reduce drug and alcohol abuse.

The Lake County Fighting Back Project is one of only five such federally supported programs in the state and one of 250 in the country.

"The goal of Fighting Back is to promote a healthy environment free of alcohol, tobacco and other drug abuse," said Carol Yates, executive director. "The strength of our area is clearly tied to the health and future of all its citizens. We believe each person in the community should be viewed as a valuable resource in this partnership to create a healthier county."

In the past several weeks, the project has given awards totaling $30,000 to several community groups and organizations among them Safe Place, the Aprendiendo-Jugando program for Latino Children, Mundein Task Force, North Chicago CADAA, Central Baptist Family Service and Catholic Charities.

The Fighting Back project was formed in 1985 as a Citizen's Task Force under the leadership of the United Way of Lake County, AB/C Council, Lake County Court System and NICASA. The Task Force sought to create a unified effort to reduce alcohol and other drug abuse.

In September of 1990, the Citizen's Task Force and Prevention Services/In Touch co-sponsored the first Lake County assembly to set prevention policy and direction for the coming decade.

"Over 100 people attended the first assembly and it was announced at the assembly that the Office of Substance Abuse Prevention had granted the Fighting Back Project funds to operate for five years," said Yates.

Waukegan Police Chief George Bridges has been involved with Fighting Back since its inception. He feels the program gets at the root of the one of the contributing causes to crime—substance abuse.

"Drug abuse is all of our problem," Bridges said. "Most juvenile offenders come into the system abusing substances and alcohol is the primary substance of abuse. All adult offenders generally were juvenile offenders and we know that interdiction alone will never work in solving the nation's drug problem."

One of the many goals of the Fighting Back Project is to encourage the development of local solutions for problems. Several communities have formed their own partnership programs as an outgrowth of the first Lake County assembly. Each of these community partnerships recognizes that the problem of alcohol and other drug abuse is so complex it cannot be solved on one front or by professionals alone. Every segment of the community has a piece of the prevention puzzle: parents and children, communities, schools, churches, police, judges, media, businesses and healthcare professionals. Each of these segments is represented among the 250 plus volunteers, called "partners."

The partnership consists of an Executive Council and four "Action Teams," in addition to committees for Media, Finance, Religious, Lake County Youth Network and Student Assistance Professional Roundtable.

The four action teams are the Healthy Child and Family Action Team, The Partnership Action Team, The Public Policy Action Team and the Technical Assistance Action Team.

The Healthy Child and Family Action Team focuses on prevention efforts for children up to age six. The team works to develop life skills that result in resilient children. Current objectives of the team are to create mentorship programs for seniors and pre-school children, change policies and enhance benefits among employers, train child care providers, increase parent participation in the Parent Connection and support the Lake County Youth Network. Elizabeth F. Yore is the chairman of the group which meets the first Wednesday of each month.

The Partnership Action Team promotes the development of community partnerships in each of Lake County's communities. The goal of the team is to establish partnerships in each Lake County community that foster healthy life-styles, opportunity and a bright sense of the future.

Several communities have established partnerships including: The Ela Area Community Partnership, Project Connection in Grayslake, Community Outreach

Uniting Residents Against Gang Environments (COURAGE) serving Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Grayslake and Antioch; Deerfield Citizens for Drug Awareness (DCFSA), Family and Community Together Successfully (FACTS) in Wauconda; Highland Park Citizens for Drug Awareness, Lindenhurst Community Partnership, Mundein Task Force, North Chicago Citizens Against Drug and Alcohol Abuse (CADAA), Project CAPE in Mundein, The Vernon Hills Community Alliance Project and the Warren Township Assisting Youth (WAY).

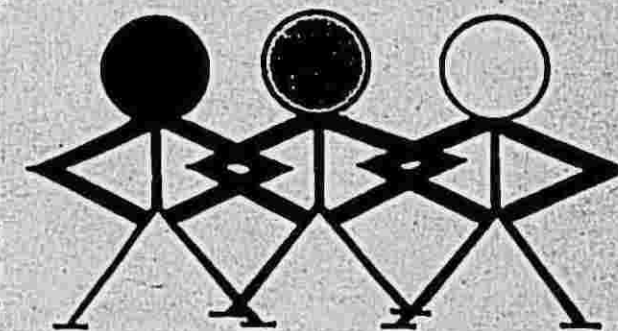

"A number of these community partnerships are in the beginning stages," said Barb Weigand, chair of the partnership action team. "The Mundein Task Force which serves the White Hall Manor community is one of the more recent task force that has formed and has been very successful. They have seen that they have a voice in the community and feel empowered."

The Public Policy Action team promotes public and corporate policies which support prevention efforts and the Technical Assistance Action Team plans special events and materials to assist other Action

Chemistry

Bringing the VIP chemistry program to children helps satisfy Heid's desire to be a chemistry teacher. "I always wanted to get back into teaching," he said.

"At the lab, I'm surrounded by chemicals and instruments. It's nice to get out and interact with people," said Heid.

But Heid said he has an underlying motive for bringing the VIP program to the public. "I do have a selfish motive. I like doing chemistry, but my job is getting more difficult." Heid works for Stepan Company in research and development. The company makes detergents including liquid Tide. He said it is more and more difficult to introduce new products.

Post vacation blues-how to handle them

by JIM WARNKEN

PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

It's Monday morning and you're back to work. Only yesterday you were lying on the beach in Hawaii. You should feel relaxed, refreshed and ready to go back to work. Instead you feel sort of blah. You're not only tired, but unable to concentrate. It may be jetlag, but most likely you have a case of "post-vacation depression."

Post-vacation depression is brought on by both physical and psychological factors. Each must be understood and dealt with if we are to return to work with a clear mind. (Actually, I think we should all just remain on vacation, but I guess that's not practical.)

The physical factors which contribute to this depression are not, in most cases, the late nights of partying while on vacation, but just the opposite. Most people get more sleep than they normally get at home. They usually get more exercise. I know I find myself taking the car the two blocks to the post office at home, but I'll walk miles exploring a foreign city.

So why doesn't your body feel refreshed after all that good treatment? Your mind has told your body it's home again and get ready for that poor food, 12-hour work days and five hours of sleep!

The psychological factors are usually that you've had a chance to get away from your structured, predictable day and experience the uncertainty and excitement a vacation brings. Now it's back to the same old routine. What can you do to ease back into the work schedule?

Come back a day early. Read your mail, pay your bills, do laundry.

Schedule at least one fun thing to do the week after your vacation.

Continue the physical exercise you started on your vacation.

Don't try to catch up on all your work the first day back. It will only heighten any depression.

If your depression lasts, turn it into something positive. Learn from what made you feel good on your vacation. Relax more. Get more exercise. Be more spontaneous. Eat better. Have more fun. We take a vacation to have fun; there is no reason we can't carry that into our work lives.

Good Food Spring is for lasagna lovers

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Springtime is for lasagna lovers at the Olive Garden Italian Restaurant which is holding its Lasagna Lovers Festival now through April 21. The five lasagna recipes appeal to a variety of tastes. They are the original Classico, Cingue Formaggio (five cheese); Carne Amore (hearty meat); Florentino (Florentine) and Al Mare (seafood).

Guests who can't decide which lasagna to select can create their own Lasagna Lovers Feast by combining two or even three different lasagnas.

There are 17 Olive Garden Restaurants throughout Chicagoland including sites in Waukegan and Vernon Hills.

Florentino Lasagna

Spinach Filling:

1 pound spinach
1 pound mushrooms, fresh coarsely chopped
1 cup onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons olive oil
3 cups ricotta cheese
2/3 cups grated Parmesan cheese
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
3/4 teaspoon dried basil
3/4 teaspoon oregano

Other:

16 lasagna noodles
4 and 1/2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese marinara sauce or tomato-cream sauce, as desired freshly grated parmesan cheese, optional.

Steam spinach just until tender. Press out excess moisture. Chop coarsely. Chop mushrooms and onions, mince garlic. Heat olive oil in a large sauté pan and sauté mushrooms, onions and garlic over medium-high heat until onions are tender. Drain any excess liquid and cool. Meanwhile, measure remaining filling ingredients and place in a large mixing bowl. Add cooled spinach and mushroom-onion mixture. Mix with an electric mixer on low speed just until well blended. Cook lasagna according to package directions. Rinse under cool water and drain.

Spray a 9 by 13 by 2 inch baking dish with pan spray or oil lightly. Place four lasagna strips in the bottom of pan, overlapping slightly. Top with 2 cups of the spinach filling. Sprinkle with 1 1/2 cups shredded cheese and 1/3 cup Parmesan cheese. Repeat pasta, filling and cheese layering two or more times.

Top with remaining 4 lasagna strips. Spread 1 cup marinara or tomato-cream sauce over the top. Cover tightly with foil. Can be refrigerated a day in advance. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Bake lasagna covered for 1 hour. Remove from oven and hold warm for at least 30 minutes before cutting. Serve with marinara or tomato-cream sauce. Top with freshly grated Parmesan cheese.

Video This Month

'Fugitive' now on video

The newest movies out on video are the tacky "Boxing Helena," and "Son of a Pink Panther."

"Helena" is the flick that has a guy so in love that he cuts his girlfriend's limbs off and puts her in a box so she'll always be with him. Kim Basinger paid big bucks to get out of her contract for this one.

"Panther" is Italy's version of the series made famous by Peter Sellers.

Top rentals now are Tom Cruise's "The Firm," and that wonderful love story, "Sleepless in Seattle."

Some really big films are set for a March release. That list includes Harrison Ford's "The Fugitive," considered one of the year's top 10 films.

Also due on the new arrivals shelves is "Gettysburg," a long account of the famous Civil War battle starring Jeff Daniels. The Academy Award nominated "What's Love Got To Do With It," based on Tina Turner and Ike Turner will be available.

Bruce Willis has a new shoot-'em-up out, "Striking Distance," Matt Dillon has a new love story available in "Mr. Wonderful," one of the better films of its type.

Critically-acclaimed "The Joy Luck Club," the story of two generations of oriental women in America, will be out at the end of the month.

Sylvester Stallone is still doing his thing in "Demolition Man," by playing "the most dangerous" cop along with Wesley Snipes as a criminal. If you like John Cusack, his newest film, "Money For Nothing," will be on the video shelves. He finds a lot of loot and refuses to give it back.

Michael J. Fox and Gabrielle Awar are a pleasing couple in "For Love of Money," a lite and funny story about a hotel concierge and how he goes about his business.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Movie Picks

'Chips' good sports flick

There's something about a sports movie wherein the underdog always challenges Goliath that makes even the poorest of them palatable. For it is in our natures to cheer the losers on.

And so it is with "Blue Chips" starring Nick Nolte as the coach and that other basketball player, Shaquille O'Neal of the Orlando Magic, playing of all things, a basketball player.

Nolte needs a winning college team and much of the film involves his struggle to decide if he needs a winner bad enough to use unethical recruiting.

Wisely, O'Neal, hasn't got a lot of demanding dialogue, they let him do what he does best, play great hoops!

O'Neal looks much bigger in this movie than he did on TV when the Magic beat the Bulls the other night.

One of the best scenes in the movie is a conversation between Nolte and Bob Cousy, basketball Hall-of-Famer who plays the college's athletic director. While they talk, Cousy casually keeps swishing the ball through the net from the free throw line and as the conversation nears its end, he switches to his left hand for the final swish.

This is a familiar role for Nolte, who is a very believable coach. The film's producers could have made this a much more powerful film by delving deeper into college sports fraud, and its long-term effects on all who become involved, but it didn't, so what we have is a light and enjoyable little flick about hoops with some basketball cameos like Bobby Knight, the controversial coach of the University of Indiana, as an added attraction. Knight does what he knows best, a lot of swearing and yelling.

We give "Chips" three out of five stars because we've known worse ways to spend $6.50 and waste two hours.—GLORIA DAVIS

Adler Cultural Center looks for new Art Program Director

The David Adler Cultural Center has launched a search to replace Sharon Asquith, the Center's outgoing art director. Asquith, who has already announced plans to leave her post, will vacate the position on March 8.

The search for a new director comes at the height of the Center's "renewal process," a quality initiative begun last summer by the Center's executive director, Dianna Monie.

A major step in the renewal process came last year when Paul Tyler joined the Center as its folk and ethnic music program director, Monie said. "Paul's presence on the staff has given new energy to the folk music programming. We hope that a similar revitalization can be accomplished in our art programming," Monie added.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)
You are very busy now with more than one iron in the fire. Business talks this week go very well and new starts are favored, but don't take on more than you can handle. The weekend will prove to be tailor-made for social interests.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)
Couples are happily making future plans this week, which may include travel. It's a good week for reaching agreements with others, but don't let things slide at work. A setback on the job is likely, followed by a triumph.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)
The combination of common sense, quick wits, and extra drive puts you in a good position for your career this week. Guard against gambling and overspending on pleasure. Be sure not to seek romantic advice from a person who is negative.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)
You will be pleased with the things you are able to accomplish this week. Partners are on the same wave length. Early in the week, you may be uncertain as to how to solve a problem. However, you will be able to turn defeat into victory.

LEO (July 23 to August 22)
The week begins on a very productive note where the job is concerned. However, there's a tendency to let things slide or to gloss over details. Ups and downs are likely where romance is concerned. Your mate may be distant, but the weekend looks good to patch this up.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22)
You are in an experimental mood this week and will be seeking new forms of entertainment. Sports, exercise, and dating are favored, but watch excess spending. Positive developments in your career will turn the tide in your favor.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)
You may invite company over on the spur of the moment this week. It's a good time for financial transactions and making decisions about home, family, and real estate. Fears and inhibitions involving heart interests will disappear.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)
You are more articulate and self-expressive than usual. New inspirations are likely to come now. Make important phone calls but be leery of those people who exaggerate. The weekend brings peace of mind.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)
Private talks relate to financial interests. It's a good time for beginning research projects. You must be careful not to sell yourself short in business dealings this week. Social life is favored but watch extravagance.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19)
Make sure you are observant in business. Don't take things for granted. Otherwise, things go your way. If you feel a business proposition doesn't pay enough, don't get depressed. Things will change soon.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18)
You will want time for yourself now to deal with an assortment of interests. You will make headway with a backlog of unfinished tasks. Business affairs proceed nicely. Be sure to make amends with a friend who's on the outs with you.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20)
Social interests are highlighted this week. This should be a time of personal popularity. However, go easy with those credit cards. A financial proposition that you have doubts about looks better now.

Afterwards, choose from among the many delicious desert selections, including a hot apple dumpling served with a spicy cinnamon sauce and ice cream that has been an Andres favorite for many years.

If theater is your fancy, Andres has it too. Andres live weekend performances include "No Sex, We're British" beginning March 5. November will feature "Bullshot Grummond." Call one week in advance for reservations, please.

Salutos offers new specialties

Salutos Pizza & Pasta, 7680 W. Grand Ave. in Gurnee, has come up with even more tempting menu items for 1994. The full-service restaurant also offers carry-out. Salutos East opened last year at 2807 W. Grand Ave. in Waukegan and offers the same great tastes for carry out or delivery.

New attractions have been added to the list of appetizers as well as 11 new entrees and three new pizzas. Appetizer additions include toasted chicken and spinach cannelloni, lightly breaded and deep fried. For those who are fans of Saluto's house specialty, an appetizer portion of rotolo is now available. This unique delight consists of a sheet of tender pasta rolled around spinach, ham and ricotta cheese with parmesan, then breaded and deep-fried.

Seafood lovers will enjoy shrimp Spiedini, featuring marinated shrimp and vegetables which are threaded on a skewer and then grilled. Two new lobster entrees are sure to be a hit. One offers lobster and shrimp with fettuccine Alfredo; the other combines lobster, shrimp and broccoli with creamy garlic sauce.

Pizza fans will love the three new topping selections. pollo primo has Alfredo chicken with broccoli and garlic. The meat lovers' pizza piles on sausage, pepperoni, ground beef and bacon. A BLT pizza is the familiar combination of bacon, lettuce and tomato in a great new style.

Everything at Salutos is made from scratch. The tender homemade pasta can't be beat for freshness and quality.

On Sunday, March 6 at 4 p.m., Salutos is offering a gourmet Italian dinner with classic Italian wines. Reservations are required and the cost is $34.95 per person. The menu includes calamari and toasted rotolo with MezzaCorona Rotari Brut (which is champagne, Italian style). For the main course, chicken in carta served with a Ruffino Libalo Chardonnay, Lobster and shrimp served with Alois Lagered Pinot Grigio, or the Steak Saluto served with Fontanafredda Barolo will be offered. Saluto's famous fresh house salad will be featured and for dessert a hazel nut torte served with Braida Moscato.

The Gurnee location offers catering and has a banquet facility for up to 50 people. For an easy Italian dinner that will feed up to 12 people, the Party Plan is the way to go. A feast of lasagna, Salutos famous salad, and rolls is priced at $32.95, which works out to a mere $2.75 per person.

Hours are 5 to 10 p.m. Monday (Salutos East closed), 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday, 11:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 1 to 9 p.m. Sunday. For orders or reservations call the Gurnee location at 356-6900. For carry-out orders or delivery from Waukegan call 623-7300.

What you think

A compilation of your thoughts about the Lake County Sheriff's Race.

New sheriff

Anyone who votes for incumbent Sheriff Grinnell is a lunatic. If you have ever needed a deputy in Antioch, you would know that you could face up to an hour wait. Anything would be better than what we have now.

Sindles supporter

I support Sindles to the fullest. He was a good Mundelein cop and would have made a great chief. This time I have a say in things. My vote will help make him Sheriff Sindles.

On every corner

I am getting sick and tired of reading about people questioning Ed Sindles about gangs. I grew up in Lake County and all I can say is yes. There are gangs on every street corner. The officials of Lake County should open their eyes. Your children are in danger, and you are in danger. Please vote for Ed Sindles.

Grinnell support

Sheriff Grinnell has done great things with county. He has reduced crime by 12.7 percent and now he is helping the senior citizens with his telephone program. He has got my vote.

Pox on you too

This is in response to the call about the cable in Willows Green subdivision. I live there, and this is to the jerk who wished a pox on anyone getting cable. You are probably the reason why we had so many problems getting cable lined up. It is not our problem if you don't want it. This is the '90s. Quit trying to screw everybody's life up.

Good work

I want to commend the Round Lake public works. You are doing a great job. Keep up the good work.

Don't blame everyone

What mayhem are the snowmobiles causing? A few bad apples ruin it for everybody. The $12-$14 I spend every year to register my snowmobile in Illinois gets me nothing. The State of Illinois will not open up the hiking trails that are closed during the winter to snowmobiles. The only close-by trails belong to snowmobile clubs which run along the roads passing by mailboxes, culverts, etc...

No vote

Hey Ken Domanchuk, still looking for a pat on the back? Who in the heck would remember you doing anything with kids five years ago? Nice try. You won't get my vote.

What's the deal?

I just have one question. Can anyone tell me what the deal is about this lady in Wooster Lake that puts an aerator in the lake to keep it from freezing? All the ducks and geese hang around and it is causing a big problem. No one can swim because the water is fouled from droppings. Can't anyone do something?

No justice

What kind of justice is there when a person is prosecuted for showing consideration for the suffering of an animal left out in -50 degrees wind-chill? I wonder how the woman who owns this dog can live with herself. It is a sad commentary on modern life when kindness and caring are in short supply. Why didn't the Round Lake officials heed the warning before this situation came to a head?

No cheer

Why is it when the football team and the basketball team at Grant High School wins something there is a big pep rally but when a wrestler wins the right to go to state, there is no rally? The wrestlers get no recognition and never heard the cheer. Congratulations.

Under water

Does anyone remember the name of the person who complained a couple of weeks ago that the water was down too much in the Antioch area. I hope everyone remembers the name of that person. I do, and I will not be patronizing your businesses.

Can get out

Thanks Grant Township road crew for doing your best this winter. For you people who think they did not do a good job, I suggest you move to Chicago. Thanks Jack. I may be the only house on the road, but I can get out.

Modeling danger

To all of you who respond to the classified advertisements looking for people to model in their homes, beware. Make sure you ask the proper questions. I called one in the local newspapers and they could not answer any questions. Parents beware. They are not taking my picture. Make sure also, check to see where the negatives will go and who will have them.

She disagrees

I am a resident of Round Lake Beach. I disagree with Mayor Ralph Davis and his opinion regarding the police. I have worked with them for the past nine years and they were always courteous, prompt, and professional.

Private drives, funds

I live in the Heights and they do not plow my street. But, I do see them plowing private driveways. If I can't pick up my kids at school because the roads are impassable, it makes me especially angry to see a public truck in a private driveway.

Call her

Wake up Lake County. Our animals, communities, wilderness, and forest preserves need your help. I am still looking for people interested in starting up a group to protect these things. Please call at 548-4704. Only serious callers please.

Off the street

I am calling to support the juvenile justice referendum in March. The justice system in Lake County is in the dark ages. Violent delinquents need to be off the street. We are all potential victims.

The shopper

I would like to comment on an article in the Feb. 25 edition of the Antioch News Reporter called "Shop Antioch." When my husband and I came here 29 years ago and started a family, there was a much larger selection of stores to choose from. Gibbs &

Jensen, Barnstables, the original Ben Franklin before it got so "crafty", General Store, and Stanley Men's Wear. I hate to admit it, but Antioch doesn't have the same atmosphere and people are being driven to shop at the malls, Kmart, Walmart, etc... What we don't need are any more taverns, restaurants, and nice places turning into teen hangouts. Let's get back to the hassle free shopping, with friendly shop owners with realistic prices, making Antioch what it used to be.

Drift problems

I guess no one has ever tried to get into the Fox Lake post office after it has snowed. You can't get in because the snow is piled so high. We need some help.

Go away

I am sick and tired of losing my naturally landscaped community consisting of trees, deer, and birds to quick fix homes, toxic pumping gas stations, people, shopping malls, and annual fee-charging banks. I work long and hard all week. I enjoy the scenery to and from work. I am sick of it. People go away.

Watching him

This is to inform the public about an incident at a gas station in Antioch. A driver became over-anxious while we were paying for our gas, got out of his car, and called me an a%*#@. I am highly shocked that a man of your age doing this to a young woman. I want to praise both the gas station and the Antioch Police for responding in a positive way. We are watching you, guy, and have your license plate number.

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (708) 223-8073

Lakeland Newspapers

Loves him

I am calling from West Millmore and calling with good news. My day was the pits, but my husband was still able to cheer me up. I just want to say, I love you honey.

Special friends

I know that we have had a lot of snow lately but I am amazed that Libertyville allows a certain car dealer to plow out his lot and dump snow on the sidewalk. I guess a car dealer does not really care about pedestrians. Do they have special friends in city hall?

Thanks for shopping

I would like to thank the people of Grayslake that are coming downtown and shopping. A lot of the people were hurting down there and things are picking up. Hey, I appreciate all of you that come downtown. All of you going to strip malls, give Grayslake a chance.

Call and complain

I am calling from Round Lake Beach. Why isn't IDOT giving us any salt? We do pay taxes. Come on people, call IDOT and complain.

Excellent job

I think of the Department of Transportation for Illinois, Lake County, and Mundelein, where I live, should be complimented on the excellent job they are doing.

New Center

Lake County has a referendum coming up for a juvenile detention center. While a new center may be needed, I think there is also a need for a juvenile recreation center. There are no school activities after school. Where are they to go and do? Can't we find the resources to establish a teen center in Antioch? Maybe if the teens had better guidance with somewhere to go and something to do, we wouldn't need a detention center.

Bad name

I am calling about the dog owners on Pistakee. They walk their dogs but don't pick up their poop. You people should pick up your dogs and move to Chicago where you belong. You give Fox Lake a bad name.

It's hit the pits

I wonder if the people of Round Lake Beach realize just how much the area has deteriorated since Mayor Davis was elected. It has really hit the pits. I have been here for 36 years. We don't get mail, the roads aren't plowed. This is utterly stupid.

Long overdue

I would like to speak in favor of the juvenile detention center referendum. It is way overdue. We have a lot of juvenile crime in the county and we are going to have to do whatever we can to get them off the street.

Supports the center

I am calling to support the county's plan to build a new juvenile detention center. I certainly have a family member who could benefit from this. Thanks.

More sports

I just bought the current Wauconda Leader and I am appalled that I live here and there is not a single article about Wauconda sports. It seems you have to buy the Daily Herald to get any sports news whatsoever. I am dismayed and appalled. Why do you people keep avoiding Wauconda?

Editorial note: Dear reader, We realize our sports coverage needs improvement and we are working on it. Thanks for the input!

Unhappy II

I am calling to agree with the caller who is unhappy with the traffic flow to the Grayslake Middle School on Route 83. We can afford a crossing guard by the apartments, but not to the entrance to the school. There have been several near-misses. We need to do something about it.

Not allowed

This is to all the ignorant snowmobilers who travel the bike paths of Haryan Farms in Grayslake. Snowmobiling is not permitted on them. You have no consideration for residents. I hope that it does not take a pedestrian getting killed before action is taken.

New law

I am calling about the windshield wiper/headlight law. Since we have had several storms, it appears that Fox Lake police are unable to enforce this law.

Golden goose

I am a builder on the Chain O'Lakes. Reading the paper, it seems everyone is concerned about waterway management. Why? They haven't done anything for the past 10 years except waste money. I guess Dan and Jakstas are afraid they will lose the golden goose.

Anti-referendum

I am appalled by Grayslake's School District 46 plan if the referendum passes. Any one program that would usurp and relocate 5, 6, and 7 year-olds from their neighborhood schools and transport and combine 5th graders with 8th graders is irresponsible and unacceptable.

Referendum stuff

I can't believe that nothing has been written in the paper about the upcoming referendum pertaining to Grayslake School District 46. Nobody has written about the referendum. I can't believe there has been nothing in the paper.

Editorial note: Dear reader, there have been a number of articles about the upcoming referendum including in this issue. If you wish to obtain copies, please call 223-8161.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Cellular One makes upgrade

LAKE COUNTY—In what marks a giant step toward achieving seamless communications, Cellular One has upgraded its network so that customers can place and receive calls automatically when traveling outside their home service area. This new capability will dramatically increase business customers' usage of their cellular phones when they're traveling outside Chicago. Cellular One is the first service provided locally to offer Automatic Call Following. This technological enhancement is made possible through the company's new affiliation with the North American Cellular Network (NACN), a nationwide network of cellular service providers. Customers can now use their cellular phone as easily and seamlessly anywhere in the NACN as they do in their home service area—calls follow them automatically. Previously, users had to dial different access codes for each city they roamed to before they could use their cellular phone, and anyone trying to call them also had to use the various access codes. To use Automatic Call Following, customers activate their phones one time only by dialing *350. There are no set up charges or monthly access fees; the service is free. In addition, the network enables customers to maintain their enhanced features, such as call waiting, immediate call forwarding and three-party conference calling, while they roam.

LMV Chamber sponsors show

VERNON HILLS—The Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the Lake County Home and Improvement Show on Saturday, April 9 and Sunday, April 10 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days. The show will be held at the Mundelein Holiday Inn located on Rte. 45 and admission is $1. Exhibitors range from landscape designers to home security system companies, displaying the latest in home improvement products and services. Food booths and beverages will be available along with the chance to win prizes. For more information call the Chamber to 680-075002.

CenterPoint completes expansion

LIBERTYVILLE—CenterPoint Properties announces expansion of one of its facilities. The 114,000 square foot building was constructed on a build to suite basis in 1993 as the Headquarters of Contempo Design, a major manufacturer of trade show exhibits with offices in Chicago, San Francisco and New York. The building is located on an eight acre site, at 1800 Industrial Dr., in Libertyville. Contempo Design has now requested CenterPoint to construct a 61,000 square foot addition to the facility.

Grandma's Cookies bakes up gourmet gifts

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

What began as a gift idea for family and friends has turned into a full-time profession for one Wildwood woman who turns empty wicker baskets into bundles of edible joy.

As owner and sole employee of Grandma's Cookie Baskets, Toni Hoftiezer, 35, works hard at trying to service the present or centerpiece needs of businesses, corporations and everyday people all over northeastern Illinois and to customers as far west as Texas and east as Johannesburg, South Africa.

Facing the impending birth of her first child and being laid-off from a position in a Lake County health care corporation, she was pushed into starting the business by her mother, hence the name, and popped her first batch of cookies into the oven six months later in May of '90.

Hoftiezer wakes up every morning at 4:30 a.m. and travels from her home office to two certified kitchens she uses in Highwood and Mundelein, where she does all of the baking to order. She also decoratively wraps the cookies to look like flowers.

Each cookie is stuck on a stick, and then made to look like a flower or long-stemmed rose, and either placed in baskets or in a rose box, which she designed herself.

The majority of her customers are residents who have heard of her services by word of mouth making gift baskets for birthdays, newborn babies or for get well presents. She also works with some of the major corporations in the County, putting together

New owners for Sun-Times, Star, Pioneer

The American Publishing Co., a subsidiary of Canada's Hollinger Inc., has purchased the Chicago Sun-Times from News-America for an estimated $180 million. Along with that came the suburban Pioneer Press and Star Newspapers.

This will be the fourth owner in ten years for the Sun-Times, started by Marshall Field more than 50 years ago. With the sale, the company joins the likes of London Daily Telegraph, the Jerusalem Post, and several Canadian newspaper chains also owned by Hollinger. American Publishing, headquartered in West Frankfort, Ill., owns more than 250 newspapers. The Sun-Times will be their largest subsidiary, with a circulation of more than 500,000. Star and Pioneer have a combined circulation of more than 200,000.

American Publishing chairman F. David Radler will assume leadership of the board of directors at the Sun-Times and termed it "a flagship newspaper."

Sam S. McKeel will remain as the Sun-Times' president and chief executive officer as well as publisher. In a statement to readers, McKeel promised "the Chicago Sun-Times will remain a vigorous, independent voice for the Chicago region."

The transaction is expected to be completed by the end of March.

Understanding the 'yellow pad' plan

Seidler

Financial planning does not have to cost a lot of money. If your financial affairs are simple, your financial plan may also be simple.

Good financial planners will review and help prepare a list of your assets and liabilities to determine your current net worth. With your input, he or she will determine your financial requirements from now through your retirement years. The planner will go on to assist you in arranging your financial affairs to meet these requirements.

Everyone's financial well-being is affected by several factors. Tax laws continue to change, and inflation erodes the purchasing power of fixed incomes. There are many investment alternatives to review in the light of economic risk, and your financial plan should be adequate enough to see that your economic goals are being met without being so cumbersome as to be unworkable.

Perhaps your first conference on financial planning will be the only one necessary. It may confirm that what you are currently doing is all that is needed to reach your goals. The first conference may also end with a "yellow pad" solution, that is, a relatively simple plan sketched out for you by the planner on a "yellow legal pad." The yellow legal pad is often adequate for many families, and because it is accomplished in one session, it's affordable by most families. Many planners such as myself will offer an initial two hour consultation at no charge in order to introduce people to financial planning.

Your financial needs and goals are going to change almost annually. Therefore, an annual "yellow pad" conference with your planner may be all that's necessary to satisfy your financial objectives. As your income and assets grow, you may find that your financial planning will become more complicated. At this point, it's worth the time and effort to proceed with a more comprehensive plan.

Almost any financial plan will have some kind of tax impact which could save or cost you money. Therefore before you initiate a plan, you should consider having your accountant review it to determine how it will affect your situation. Your estate plan or how you own your assets and how you plan to pass them on to your heirs should also be reviewed as well as your long term investment plan. Whether you have your own business or work for someone who provides you with financial benefits other than your salary, a comprehensive plan will need to consider these items also. Finally a plan for managing risk which usually involves a review of your insurance needs is essential.

Your accountant is your most objective and best qualified choice for assistance with financial planning. If you have an accountant, you should contact them this tax season to set up a "yellow pad" session. Chances are you will walk away with a good start on your plan for you and your family's future.

INVESTMENT TRENDS

Noah A. Seldenberg, 223-1908
Investment Representative of Edward D. Jones & Co.

Walgreen's poised for growth

This week we'll take a look at our final three local stocks, Walgreen Co., WMX Technologies and Cherry Corp.

Walgreen Co.

The local drugstore, Walgreen's is poised to continue their strong earnings growth for the near future. After having grown their earnings per share (EPS) at 11 percent annually the last five years, analysts are expecting this to continue. In fact, estimates are for a 13 percent earnings growth for the next five years.

Much of the earnings growth can be attributed to higher profit margins as well as more new store openings. During the first quarter of fiscal 1994, Walgreen's opened 63 new stores versus 36 last year at this time. The opportunity for more growth exists as Walgreen's is still not in many markets in the Northwest and Southern California. New markets for 1994 include Cleveland and Buffalo.

Walgreen's stock is selling at a slight premium to the market with a P/E of around 20, but the above average earnings growth should make up for this.

With a dividend yield of around 1.5 percent, Walgreen's is seen as a buy for investors seeking growth from their portfolio.

WMX Technologies

The company was formerly called Waste Management, better known as the company who removes garbage from your house once a week.

This company has provided investors with a roller coaster ride, after going from a low of 28 5/8 in 1990 to a high of 45 1/2, and staying in the high 30's to low 40's until late last year when it was hit by news of a 50 percent earnings decline despite 5.5 percent higher revenues. Reasons for this include lower profit margins as well as some special charges. The future remains somewhat uncertain for WMX, and with a P/E ratio of about 26, investors would be better off looking other places for investments. WMX is recommended as a hold for aggressive investors even with its 2.4 percent dividend, the stock only has an 18 month price target of $28 a share. Based on its current price of around $24, give WMX a hold.

Cherry Corp.

This Waukegan based electronic company has rewarded investors handsomely in the last two years. After having a low of 5 3/4 in 1992, Cherry sprang up to a high of 27 1/4. For 1993 Cherry hit a high of 34. For investors who like Cherry, a buying opportunity may have been created as the stock is currently trading in the low to mid 20's. Although they offer no dividend, with earnings now turning the company profitable, Cherry looks interesting with a book value of $17.66 per share.

Although no analysts on Wall Street currently follow Cherry, for aggressive investors, Cherry Corp. should be a buy.

Local GreenTree Child Care moves up in national ranking

ServiceMaster Child Care Services, which operates GreenTree Child Care Centers in the Chicago area, has been ranked sixth among the nation's largest employer child care management organizations, according to "The Child Care Information Exchange" magazine. In Libertyville, GreenTree is located on-site at Motorola.

The new ranking represents a three-place increase over GreenTree's ninth-place finish among the nation's top 30 companies in 1992. ServiceMaster's GreenTree, one of only three companies to expand the licensed capacity of its contracted centers by over 50 percent in 1993, now serves over 2,000 children at 14 center locations.

"Our increase in national ranking is significant because though we are a local company, we are now larger in this area than many national competitors, a sign we view as a strong endorsement of the employer-based, quality child care we offer," said Lon Oury, vice president of Child Care Services at ServiceMaster and part of the husband/wife team leading the division's growth.

"We are pleased with the dramatic increase and expect to continue to expand this year, not only in Illinois, but also into other regions of the country," Oury added.

In addition to the ranking of child care management companies, the magazine also conducted a survey of more than 100 child care providers, consultants and industry watchers on trends in employer child care. Overall, results showed that for the past two years interest among employers in child care is growing, with less than 10 percent of respondents citing a decrease in interest.

"More than ever before, human service managers are receiving visits in their offices from employees looking for help with their child care problems. Increasingly, as well, groups of employees are organizing to press their demands for child care benefits," said Sue Shellenberger, the Work and Family columnist for the "Wall Street Journal" and one of the survey respondents.

Additionally, Shellenberger notes that although there is no hard research that child care benefits reduce absenteeism or boost morale, there is research confirming that child care benefits are crucial in supporting recruitment and retention.

According to Roger Neugebauer, editor of "The Child Care Information Exchange," one of the key trends indicated by the survey was an increase in the use of outside contractors to operate employer child care centers. As interest in providing child care benefits increases, employers realize that they are not equipped to provide the services to their employees.

GreenTree Child Care Centers are all built in cooperation with one or more employer sponsors, including corporations and office parks. The company is planning to target additional sponsors in the future, such as health care institutions.

GreenTree Child Care Centers' Illinois locations are in Wheaton, Schaumburg, Waukegan, Itasca, McHenry, Oak Brook, Downers Grove, Crystal Lake, Lisle, Wood Dale, Elgin, Libertyville and Deerfield. In Wisconsin, GreenTree is located in New Berlin.

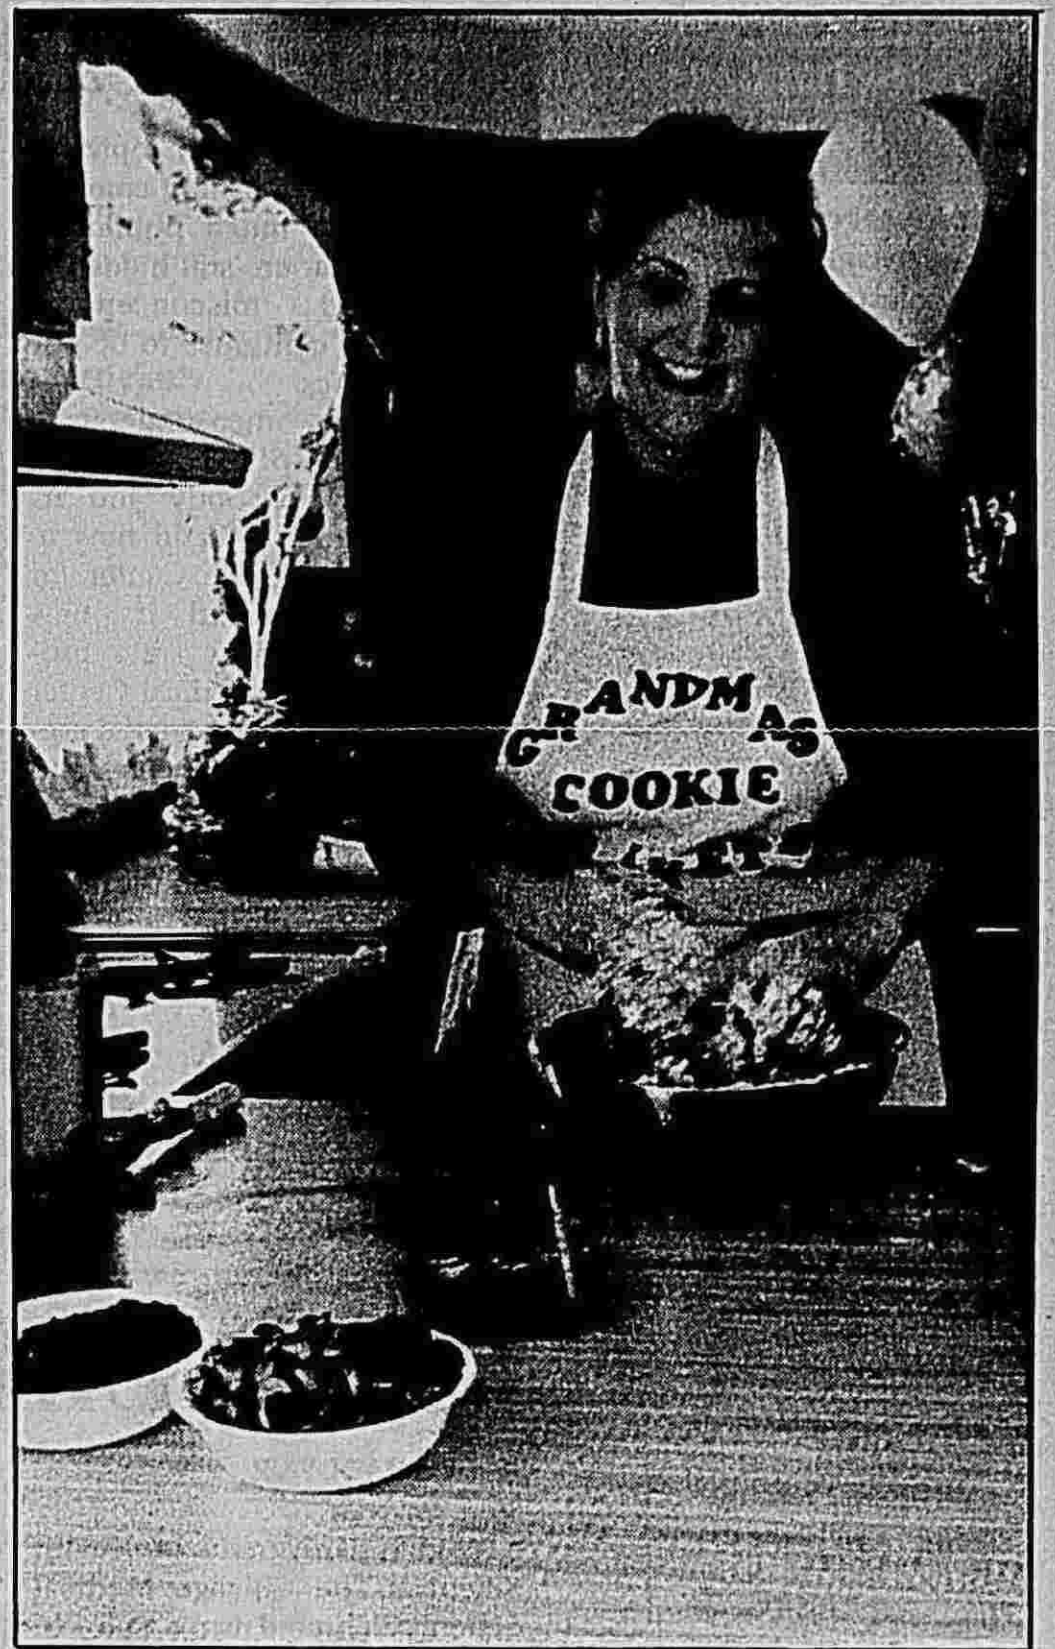

The ServiceMaster Company Child Care Services is a division of The ServiceMaster Company, headquartered in Downers Grove, a close to $4 billion provider of education and industry management services to employer customers. The publicly held company serves more than five million customers in the United States and 23 countries around the world.

"The Child Care Information Exchange," created in 1978, is a leading management magazine for owners and directors of early childhood programs. Located in Redmond, Wash., the publication conducts an annual survey on trends in employer child care.

"What I like to do is work with the people and coordinating a basket (together)," she said.

Using fresh, gourmet ingredients, Hoffiezer bakes 10 different cookies, the best seller being chocolate chip kiss, with sugar free and low fat creations also available. Each cookie is 3 and 1/2 to 4-inches in diameter. She also will make any cookie she does not have in her menu per a customers request.

"If I don't have it, I'll see that I get it for them, if at all possible," she said.

She recently hired a delivery service to help her expand her business locally.

"They have given me a better opportunity to have a bigger reach in the local area," she said.

Now having two boys around the house, she has a future goal of expanding into a storefront business, continuing to make baskets and selling other gourmet items. Those plans are on-hold, however, until the boys are enrolled in school.

Same day delivery is available, although Hoffiezer would appreciate 24-hour advance notice. To place an order, call her at 548-8202.

THE PROBLEM:

Response time to citizen complaints of criminal activity is unacceptably slow. Deputies are confronting today's criminals with antiquated procedures and obsolete equipment.

THE SOLUTION:

- recognize there is a problem
- re-deploy officers where and when crimes occur
- replace the radio communication system, which is unreliable and dangerous
- serve domestic violence orders of protection promptly
- work with, not against, all local law enforcement agencies

Condell Health Center presents program on menopause

There are certain topics in today's world of instant communication and much publicized openness that are still hidden in myth and misconception. Menopause continues to be one of these topics.

To help women understand the physiology of menopause, its impact on the body and its potential problems and how to deal with them, the Center for Mental Health and its new Women's Treatment Track program at Condell Medical Center invites the public to attend a presentation on "Menopause and Beyond: A Program to Separate Myth from Reality."

The program will be held

Friday, March 4, from noon to 1 p.m. in the Dorothy Keene Allen Conference Center on the Condell campus, 700 Garfield Rd. Refreshments will be served. Reservations may be made by calling 362-2905, ext. 5580.

James L. Milam, M.D. board certified obstetrician/gynecologist and a member of the Condell Medical Staff, is the featured speaker. Dr. Milam will represent the PEAK (Physicians Encouraging Awareness and Knowledge) Program sponsored by the CIBA-GEIGY Corporation.

According to the PEAK program, although about a third of a woman's life may be spent in the postmenopausal period, many women anticipate this event with dread, sadness and even embarrassment born of ignorance. Some women see menopause as the beginning of old age or as an illness. Since PEAK feels that self-knowledge of one's own body and what to expect from it, the program is sponsoring a series of lectures/slide shows throughout the country.

This presentation is one of the first to be offered by the Women's Treatment Track, which the Center for Mental Health opened in 1993 to address women's mental wellness needs.

Finch University celebrates renaming

BILL DERMODY JR.
Staff Reporter

Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School celebrated its renaming in honor of the chairman of the board of trustees and CEO, Herman M. Finch, at a convocation ceremony.

Illinois State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis presented a proclamation on behalf of Governor Jim Edgar declaring February 23, "Herman M. Finch Day" in Illinois. The proclamation acknowledged Finch's creation of the University, Finch's 45 years with the school, and his successful efforts to attract world renowned faculty to the school.

The renaming marks the first time in history that a school of higher education has been renamed in honor of a living CEO. The move to rename the school was initiated by the school's faculty in honor Finch's pioneering efforts in health science education and school leadership.

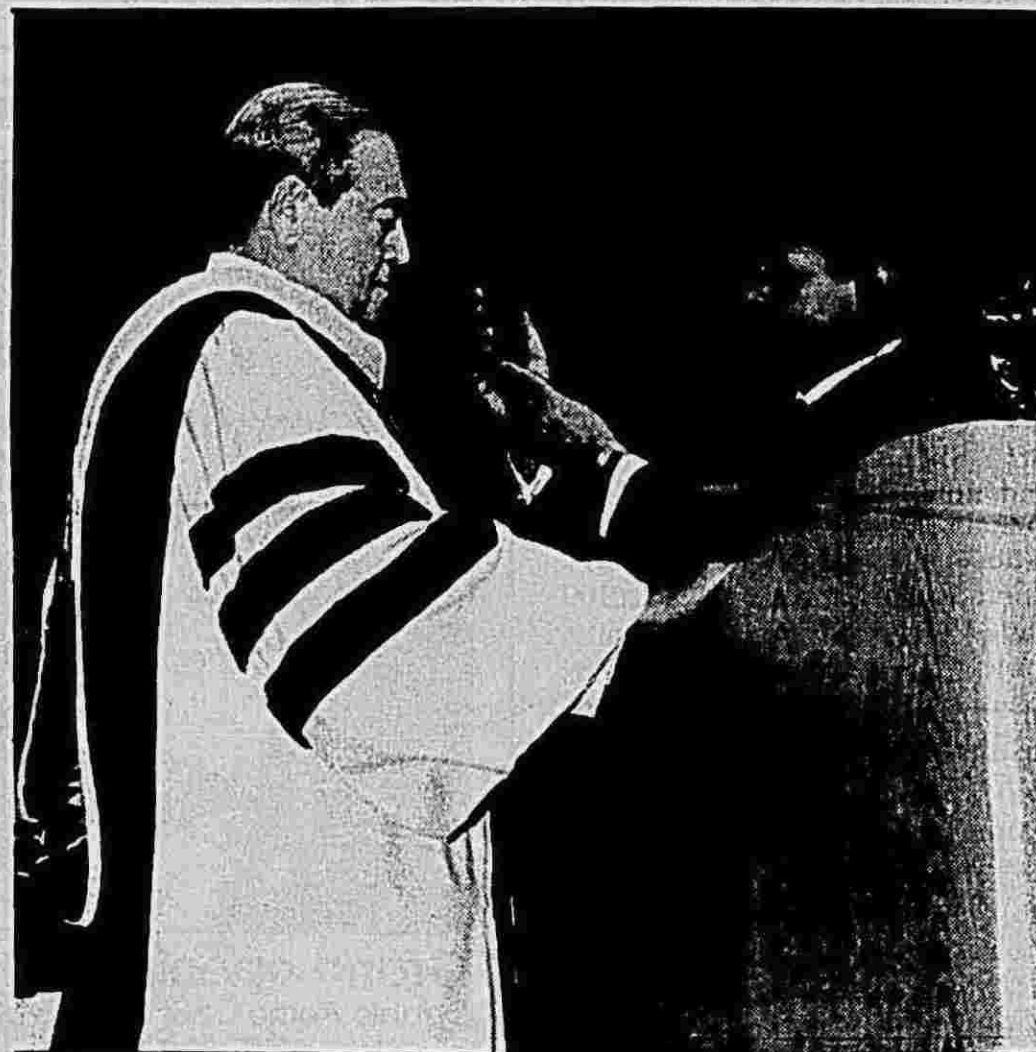

Dr. Richard Hawkins, the University's executive vice president for academic affairs presented Finch with the University's medallion.

Honorary Doctorate Degrees of Science were conferred by Finch to Dr. Georg Springer, professor of microbiology/immunology and surgery and head of Heather M. Bligh Cancer Research Laboratories at Finch University, and Dr. Andrew Whelton, associate professor of medicine and clinical director of the division of nephrology at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

Finch is credited with developing a model for a health sciences university, a concept which has by medical schools throughout the country. Finch is also responsible for turning around the school's reverse net worth of $3 million in 1966 to today's net worth of $81 million.

"The renaming of this institution represents the gratitude of the board of trustees, faculty, alumni, students, and administration to Herman Finch. His devotion to the University since 1948 has been an inspiration to everyone in our university community," said Hawkins.

Griefnotes

How can I face people since my loved one committed suicide?

You may feel sad, grief stricken, guilty and embarrassed. It is certainly discomforting to have to face friends and neighbors who may not understand or who may themselves be embarrassed and upset. The best way to handle embarrassment is to face the fact that the suicide occurred, express your feelings about it and then begin living again. By acknowledging honestly to others that the death was a suicide you make it possible for friends to talk to you about their feelings and to give you support. This gives you a chance to discuss the death in a healthy manner. When a loved one commits suicide surviving friends and relatives may find it especially helpful to seek some professional counseling to release their intense feelings.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Requirements concerning household help and taxes

For the past several months, we have been getting a lot of inquiries about household help and taxes. Your questions have included:

- Who are considered household employees?
- Who must pay taxes?
- What kinds of taxes is the IRS talking about?
- How much taxes must be paid?
- What forms are necessary?

Because of your interest, I'd like to explain the requirements concerning household help and taxes. But, I also want to go even further and point out the benefits of filing returns and paying taxes for both you and your employee.

Household employees can be cooks, butlers, housekeepers, nannies, maids, cleaning people, baby-sitters, janitors, handy persons, gardeners or drivers to name just a few.

Federal tax rules which affect household employees have been widely misunderstood for a number of years.

If you hire someone to work in your home and pay cash wages of $50 or more to an employee during a calendar quarter, you must pay social security and Medicare taxes for the employee for that quarter. These taxes are usually reported on IRS

Form 942, "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees."

Federal unemployment tax must be paid by employers who paid an employee cash wages of $1,000 or more in a calendar quarter in the current or preceding year. It is reported on IRS Form 940, "Employer's Annual Federal Unemployment (FUTA) Tax Return," or the simpler Form 940-EZ.

We in the IRS are not insensitive to the problems of finding competent and affordable help, especially in the child care area, who are also willing to comply with the law. As several working mothers have expressed to me, "What am I to do? Here is a qualified, competent person, who will care for my child, but only if I pay cash, and don't report their income. Sure I know it is wrong, but my child's health and well being come first."

For the employer, especially of a care giver, a major benefit is the credit for child or dependent care. This is a direct credit against your total tax bill.

As an employer, you are also protecting yourself against on-the-job injuries by your employee because by reporting income and paying taxes, you have become a member of the unemployment and workman's compensation system.

The benefits for the employee are even greater. By having their wages reported and social security taxes paid, they are eligible for social security payments when they retire, but even more importantly, disability payments if they are permanently injured.

Your employee is also eligible for unemployment compensation if they are laid off or fired.

Perhaps most important of all is the loss of other government benefits such as the earned income credit. If your care giver has young children, and many of them do, they may be missing out on as much as $2,527 in direct cash back from the government, during 1994. The earned income credit is a way to get more money into the hands of working people with children. The credit is available based on their reported earned income.

If you have a household employee, you can get copies of Forms 940 or 940EZ and 942, along with the free IRS Publication 926, "Employment Taxes for Household Employers," by calling (800)829-3676.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I was one of those individuals who had been employed with the same company for 12 years when the company folded due to loss of contracts. Rather than wait for the perfect job to come around, friends told me to sign on with a temporary employment service. I have been employed as a "Temporary" for the past 11 months. It was my first experience with this type of employment and I must say it has worked well for me. Fortunately for me, I was placed on my first and only assignment that has lasted the entire time. The person who normally holds this position had taken a year off, and in her absence, I have handled administrative support for a V-P and 14 sales professionals all of which has their own style and way they expect things to be done. The position will be coming to an end in the next month. I will be starting to seek future employment and I was wondering whether or not it is proper for me to ask the V-P of the department I am working in for a letter of recommendation, or should I seek letters from these sales professionals & V-P individually?
E.M. - Lake Villa, P.S. Thank you for your column, I look forward to reading it each week.

A: The answer to your question is, "yes". Ask the V-P and anyone else you feel will be beneficial to your future employment. Keep in mind that employers often verify those letters of recommendation and so it is important when choosing those persons for letters, to be sure to ask if they mind being contacted by telephone as well. That way, in asking ahead of time, that person will not be caught off guard if he or she is contacted. Also, it is important to "network" with these people at this time. They have had the better part of a year to observe your skills and talents. If there is not a place open within the company for them to further utilize you, then perhaps those 15 people, know 15 people, who know 15 people, who know of a company just dying for your skills. Good Luck!

Q: A friend told me of a few summer positions he heard about that we should both apply for. School will be letting out soon, and I need to earn some money for living expenses for my first year of college. The positions are offering minimum wage. How much is minimum wage? R.F. - Round Lake Beach

A: Currently the minimum wage is $4.35 per hour. With summer vacation just around the corner, the best time to line up that summer job is now!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.
Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

CALEB Family living is what the Caleb's all about. A spacious family kitchen is at the heart of this three bedroom plan, but there's plenty of privacy too. And the designers didn't skimp on glass, so all of the rooms are bright.

A small office located between the master suite and the living room can serve as a nursery if needed. The basement provides additional storage.

Formal rooms face the street. Both the living room and dining room have the same eye-catching window arrangement, a generous expanse of plate glass flanked by divided lights. In the dining room's window bay, two more tall, slender banks of glass fill the angled walls on either side of the wide central section.

Kitchen and family room are spacious and open. Nothing more than a raised eating bar separates the areas. The dishwasher, too, is raised, for ease of use. But the sink section, in back of the eating bar, is standard height. Having the sink here allows members of the clean up crew to take part in family activity.

Other kitchen amenities include a large walk-in pantry, built-in stove and double ovens. In the family room, there's space for a media center in cabinetry next to the corner fireplace. Sliding glass doors access an expansive sun deck, illuminated by eight skylights.

The laundry room is close to the kitchen, secondary bedrooms and garage. Features include a utility sink, pull-down ironing board, cabinets, and a counter for folding clothes. The three car garage has a workbench and extra storage space.

A dual compartment bathroom serves the two secondary bedrooms. One person can take a bath in privacy while another uses the water closet or basin. Two basins and a long mirror prevent quibbling over space in the morning rush.

A double vanity in the master suite is in the dressing area across from a large walk-in closet. Other luxuries include an oversized tub and an oversized shower.

For a study kit of the CALEB (333-280), send $9.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring Landmark's most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Antiquing is a fascinating, family adventure at the Volo Antique Mall as youngsters and oldsters search through over 200,000 quality items for their special treasures.

Authorities and authors agree that there is most affordable antique collecting for beginners of all ages. More and more experts agree that not every antique must be 100 years old. There are the antiques of tomorrow for today's children and those on a shoestring budget. Those antiques of the future are items from the 1920s through the 1950s. Age alone has little effect on the desirability and price of antiques. An antique is something beautiful from the past, something that has mellowed with age and is pleasing to the beholder. Youngsters learn valuable lessons through antique collecting, too. It teaches them to compare and evaluate before he or she buys if his or her finances are limited. Experts recommended that a small, separate budget be set up for the child's or family's antiquing. Antiques can be good short-term or long-term investments. Antique collecting is fun for children and can be a deterrent to boredom that can lead to mischief. It is an entertaining way to keep the family together, too. It teaches children and adults respect and appreciation for meaningful pieces of history and pride in their heritage. Antiques can enrich life in many ways.

The Volo Antique Mall is a historic landmark. The four-story, 1850s, rustic, red barn with 150 dealers offers a fascinating array of treasures dating from the 17th century to 1959, in room settings and show-cases, with an adjoining, single-story, 200-foot building. Books and guides about antiques are available. The mall is open every day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information call (815) 344-6062.

The Volo Antique Mall is one of the unique attractions on the 26-acre, Old Volo country complex. Here, too, is the internationally-known Volo Auto Museum with 175 classic and antique cars in a $7 million collection housed in three buildings. "Automobilia" items from the 1950s and 1960s are showcased in the adjoining American Classics Gift Shop. There are colorful books about specific autos. Auto Museum admission is just $1.50 for children through age 12 and $3 for adults. Phone (815) 385-3644.

Carmel gives fans good feeling

Carmel High School senior Dan Stasiek and the rest of his classmates wanted their final home game to end on a more positive note than it did Friday.

Stasiek, a 6-3 senior forward, began that effort by canning a trio of three-pointers to start the second-half. His 13 points plus 13 from senior Bob Glazik led the Corsairs, but too many put-back baskets by St. Patrick's provided a 72-59 CHS defeat. The loss sends Carmel into the IHSA tourney with an 8-17 record, 5-8 ESCC.

"It was difficult for the seniors because they are a hard-working group. They worked hard for four years and did not give up - they were diving around for loose balls at the end," Carmel Coach Ben Berg said.

Stasiek has been a leader for CHS all year, scoring between 14 and 18 points a night. "I looked for Dan to step up in the second half," Berg said.

For Glazik, the final regular-season game, scoring in double figures capped his rise through the Carmel ranks.

"He was on the Freshmen 'B' team his freshman year. He sat at the end of the bench his sophomore and junior years. He is small, but he does the little things like ball fakes," Berg said.

The game was the last in a 35 year career for Max Kurland. The long-time Shamrocks coach and his squad recorded the win due to offensive rebounds and weak-side rebound hoops. Kevin Buford led with 20 points and Scott Riley had 15. Eric Galati, the outside threat, had 13, 8 in the third quarter.

Playing before a smallish crowd held down because of blizzard-like conditions, the Corsairs led early, 10-6 on a lay-up from Rick Koeser. But a tip-in by Buford turned out to be a bad sign for CHS as the visitors took a 13-12 lead after one.

St. Pats opened up a 13-point second quarter lead as CHS had turnover trouble. Carmel had 11 turnovers at halftime, its average for a game.

"We usually manage the basketball pretty well," Berg said.

Carmel trailed 33-24 at intermission, but led by Stasiek's threes, trimmed the lead to one, 39-38, on two Glazik free throws.

But an 8-0 blitz by St. Pats sealed their veteran coach's win for sure. The lead reached 20 before St. Pats put its subs in and Carmel could show off again - as in a memorable lean-in by Koeser.

Carmel coach Berg was upbeat as his team prepared for Wednesday's challenge in its first tourney. Carmel opened with Lake Forest with the winner facing Libertyville-Round Lake winner March 3 at regional final round.

Nationally ranked Kankakee humbles CLC

College of Lake County's women's basketball team would rather recall its finish than its final game.

The Lancers won three-of-five contests for an 8-18 overall record. The finale was a 85-30 drubbing at the hands of nationally ranked Kankakee.

"It went about as expected. They took the press off, but they were too deep and tall for us. We were a little more respectable in the second half," CLC Coach Don Zeman said.

The Lancers were down 42-8 at intermission. Heather Ford was the leading scorer with 9 points.

"She was shooting better the last six-or-eight games. She is also our assist leader and was very helpful on offense," Zeman said.

Two aspects of basketball kept the Lancers from a successful season.

"Turnovers and poor shooting. Other than the last five or six games, we were never over 35 percent from the field. And it was not like we were shooting bombs from our offense," Zeman said.

Julie Frankowski, a Warren grad, finished strong in rebounding with 42 the two games before Kankakee. "She was our most consistent shooter in terms of percentage," Zeman said.

Missy Koumos, from Round Lake, was one of the bright spots. She had all three of CLC's three-pointers.

Amy Scharlau, a freshman, coupled with Ford as the Wauconda Connection. She was a team captain and will be back next year.

She was a consistent player at both ends of the floor with her quickness and anticipation," Zeman said.

Christy Zink battled it under the boards for 16 rebounds against nationally-ranked foes.

Panthers' Sartin leads the NWSC contingent

A Round Lake player and a Johnsburg standout were among four unanimous selections for the all-Northwest Suburban Conference girls basketball team.

Dawn Pelczynski, a junior guard for Johnsburg and Felicia Sartin, a junior forward from Round Lake, were honored. Sartin, the county's leading scorer, was named MVP.

League champion Marian Central had two unanimous picks - junior center Megan Kusek and senior guard Maureen O'Donnell.

Grayslake was represented by senior guard Jennifer Dunbar and junior forward Julie Duchane.

Also on the team:

Marian Central forward-center Leigh Hadick, a junior and Hurricanes senior forward Christy Luciano.

Karen Minkalis, a senior guard for the second-place Panthers, made the squad.

Wauconda suffered through a winless season but Becky Stevig was selected.

Dawn Stewart, a senior swingperson from Johnsburg, was the 12th selection.

Kessel gains No. 350

It has been a memorable year of milestones at Mundelein High.

There was Kyle Kessel setting the all-time scoring mark for Lake County. A few minutes later, Thad Miller became the fifth Mustang to score over 1,000 points and Tuesday another highlight was added.

Coach Dennis Kessel notched win No. 350 in his career as Mustang coach.

The win advances the Mustangs to its own regional final round March 4 at home against Waukegan. Tip-off is at 7:30 p.m.

Tourney notebook: the other regional final determined Tuesday was Deerfield at Grayslake.

Deerfield's 76-75 win over Stevenson means two sub .500 teams will vie for regional titles March 4....

Grayslake Coach Greg Groth is a fan of three-point shots, but keep them in the games. Groth said the three-point shootout is a distraction. "We had 200 people here at 6 p.m. People get too restless. Have it at Waukegan the Saturday before regionals," he said....Libertyville, the third seed, had an all-state player leading the way against Round Lake Wednesday. Matt Heldman was named last week.

Jewish teens invited to sports event in Israel

The Israeli Sports Challenge (ISC), a super sports adventure in Israel from June 26 through Aug. 1, is now accepting applications from Jewish Teenage Athletes (boys and girls), ages 15 through 17. ISC is under the sponsorship of the YM-YWHA of Bergen County, N.J., a member agency of the Jewish Community Centers (JCC) Association of North America.

ISC '94 is designed for the varsity-level athlete. Those selected will spend five fast-moving weeks in Israel next summer concentrating on the sport of their choice: basketball, tennis, swimming or soccer (boys only). The program includes training, participating in competitions and experiencing the land of Israel firsthand, through living with Israeli families and touring the country.

The athletes will be accompanied by top American coaches. They will be matched with Israeli athletes and international-level Israeli coaches for two weeks of training and competition with a top Israeli club in their sport.

A ten-day, five star Sports Camp at Wingate Institute, Israel's Olympic training site, will highlight the stay. The North American participants will join selected Israeli athletes in an intensive program developed and presented by Israel's leading coaches.

To round out this experience, the ISC has set up more than two weeks of specially designed touring, tailored to the athletic teenager, who will enjoy an adventure that balances Israel's natural beauty with its historical and spiritual and spiritual heritage.

For more information on programming for young athletes within the context of the JCC movement, contact Amy Rosenberg, JCC's North American Maccabi Youth Coordinator, at the JCC Association, 15 East 26th St., New York, NY 10010-1579; telephone (212)532-4949; fax (212)481-4174.

Elite eight eludes 'Cats as they fall in supersectional again

Kelly Karl's season ends.

She drove to the basket; she shot from the outside; and she scored 30 points. Unfortunately for the Libertyville girls Wildcats, this 5-foot 6-inch freshman (yes, freshman) played for the opposite team.

Glenbrook South's Dana Leonard almost single-handedly stole the show from Libertyville's hopes of winning the supersectional at Niles West High School. The Titans controlled the game from the start and went on to win 85-75.

"She's (Leonard) the single one reason why they won," said Libertyville Coach Tom Murphy.

But coach Murphy stressed that he was proud of his team's performance this year (26-4) as they had to overcome No. 1 Stevenson (and another phenomenal freshman in the name of Tamika Catchings) in the sectional to advance to the Sweet 16.

Glenbrook South started the game strong and hinted towards its game plan as the Titans contained Wildcat point guard Kelly Karl.

"The key to us was to put as much pressure on her (Karl) as possible," said Glenbrook Coach Howard Romanek. "We had to do our best to pick her up early."

Trailing the Titans 11-20 after the first eight minutes, Murphy said he told his team at the first-quarter break, "The bad news is they're scoring a lot of points. The good news is there is still three more quarters."

Everytime Libertyville seemed to be gaining momentum, Glenbrook's Leonard was there to spoil it.

"Dana Leonard broke us down," Murphy said. "They scored a whole lot of points."

The Wildcats managed a 7-point run in the middle of the second quarter to cut the lead to 23-29. Then, Leonard stepped up with a 3-point bomb.

Wildcat Center Julie Virta ended the half with a bank shot after a cross-court pass from teammate Karl. Virta scored 19 of her 30 points in the first half.

Libertyville went into intermission as 8-point underdogs, but the Wildcats overcame a 10-point deficit at half against Stevenson. Could they do it again?

Virta started the second half with a bang by scoring the first seven points and bringing Libertyville to within one, 42-41. That was as close as the Wildcats got.

Karl, a senior, assumed the leadership for the Wildcats in the fourth quarter as she went on to score 16 points. She received a standing ovation when she departed with :20 left and Libertyville behind 85-75.

Rockets zoom to Elite Eight, shooting key

Richmond-Burton's girls basketball team overcame its own self-doubt and a strong inside game by Westmont and made key free-throws to earn the first Elite Eight berth in school history.

The Rockets (26-1) held Westmont scoreless for the final three minutes, allowing for a long celebration for a 55-45 win.

"We were nervous in the first quarter," leading scorer Natalie Gambit said.

Gambit scored 23 points, 5 of 6 from the free-throw line and Allyson McNabb (12 points) was 6 of 7.

Richmond was going for a spot in the final four when the Rockets battled Williamsville in the quarterfinals Thursday night at Redbird Arena at Illinois State University. Williamsville came in with a 26-4 mark, winning in overtime over Carrollton 54-50.

The Rockets showed their depth in talent against Westmont, a team which featured the 1-3-1 zone.

"I told the kids after the game the bench won it for them. Julie Holian, Leslie Toler and Stephanie Hunter gave us all quality time," Richmond Coach Tom Lay said. "They live and die by the 1-3-1. In the first half, they lived by it; in the second half they died by it."

The bench players consider themselves an important part of this much talented contingent. "We stick together," Holian said.

Holian had the task of playing in place of Heidi Regnier, who was in foul trouble. Regnier came back to secure five critical rebounds, making travel plans to Bloomington a reality.

Coach Lay likes to talk in terms of time and situations and both were on Richmond's side at Somanauk in the second half.

McNabb concluded a run which brought the Rockets back from a six-point deficit for a 33-32 lead with three minutes left in the third.

"McNabb's threes opened it up for us," Lay said.

Gambit kept ball possession on the side of Richmond with a driving lay-up, and junior Nicole Clark hit a free throw and McNabb another bucket for a 39-38 lead after three.

Gambit started the fourth quarter parade to the free-throw line with two at the 7:36 mark for a 41-38 lead and Richmond was never headed.

The last tie came at 45-45.

McNabb and Gambit successfully ran the offense, at times playing catch and keeping Westmont at bay. And when McNabb canned four straight with 1:30 left, the game was all but over as Westmont lacked outside shooters.

"I did not know we held them scoreless for three minutes. I was trying to run the clock," Gambit said.

Gambit receives the headlines for her point totals, but she relishes other aspects as well. "I love to get an assist. It is as good as scoring," she said.

Long-time player starting coaching career with Vikes

A member of the Minor League Football Hall of Fame is charting his course for the Lake County Vikings.

Kurt Kampendahl of Antioch was introduced to interested players during a team gathering. He has his football roots in Lake County, playing his high school ball at Wauconda and starting a 22-year career with a spot on the Lake County Rifles roster.

Kampendahl had the pleasure of watching his jersey No. 74 for the Racine Raiders retired last year. He played on national championships at Racine since 1987 as a lineman.

"The fact that I was able to play the game of football that long and never be seriously injured," Kampendahl said of his long minor league football career.

He wished to retire from the game his father first encouraged him to play in a graceful matter. "My talents were starting to decline and I did not want to be remembered as being one who hanged on too long," Kampendahl said.

He always played defensive tackle.

In fact, Kampendahl gained notoriety when he played both ways for Eureka College for not one, but two seasons.

"I also was the punter and kicked off. I was one of 8 guys who played both ways," he said.

He graduated from Wauconda high in 1967 after playing for Tom Galligan and George Haley. He credits his father Einar with being the biggest influence.

He works for AT&T as a software associate for business clients.

"I wanted to be a teacher, but in the 1970s there was a surplus of teachers. My Dad asked if I wanted to work with then-called Illinois Bell and I started there in 1975. It is challenging, but you get to meet a lot of different people," he said.

As for his plans for the six-year-old Vikings, he said no assistants have been appointed, but interviews should conclude by the end of this month.

"Interest has been tremendous," he said of prospective players.

Players can count on a mini-camp in April or May. The schedule for an 8 or 10-team Midwest Football League will be named this spring. New teams are: Chicago Lions, Chicago Chargers, Chicago Heights Broncos and Indiana Renegades.

Kampendahl's goal is to bring a minor league football title to Lake County. He succeeds Julian Tucker, who left the team due to illness and is the team's fourth head coach.
